THE 'NAYS' HAVE IT, GOVT OFFER REJECTED

Small farmer unions in favour, big ones against proposal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi/Chandigarh

THE government's hopes of ending the deadlock over the farm laws before Republic Day were dashed on Thursday with the farmers' unions rejecting the proposal to suspend the laws for two years or more and forming a joint panel to examine the entire gamut of issues.

In a statement issued after two rounds of meetings, the first among the 32 Punjab unions followed by all the organisations under the Samyukt Kisan Morcha banner, the farmers said "the proposal put forth by the government yesterday was rejected."

"A full repeal of (the) three central farm laws and enacting a legislation for remunerative MSP for all farmers were reiterated as the pending demands of the movement," the morcha said.

But sources said the decision was not unanimous, with some smaller unions, who were in a minority, in favour of accepting the Centre's proposal but with several conditions, while the bigger ones, mainly from Punjab, firm on continuing with the agitation.

The sources said the majority view to reject the proposal was mainly two-fold. First, the protest was peaking and if they withdrew at this point, they may not be able to build up another movement in the future for a repeal of the laws in case the proposed committee rejects this demand. Second, 143 farmers had died during the agitation and if they were to accept the offer without getting the laws repealed, their sacrifice would have gone in vain.

The split in opinion led to some heated exchanges during the meeting, the sources said, forcing a vote over the issue. "The consensus was that we should stick to our stand of repeal. Voting took place in the meeting of all the 40 unions in which most voted for rejecting the proposal," a leader said.

Joginder Singh Ugrahan, the leader of the largest union, said "we want the Centre to enact a legislation for remunerative MSP and also a law with the provision that the government procures these crops at MSP as it has been doing to date."

"The Punjab unions decided to reject the Centre's proposal. They informed this at the joint meeting. There was a feeling that 143 farmers have sacrificed their lives and there is no point in settling for anything less than a repeal," said All India Kisan Sabha general secretary Hannan Mollah

The morcha paid homage to the farmers who have died in the movement so far. P9

TRACTOR RALLY TALKS

Meeting between farmer union leaders and the Delhi Police on tractor parade on Republic Day inconclusive

Farmers firm on holding the rally on the Outer Ring Road in Delhi, while police wary of disturbing law and order, want them to call it off

Thousands of tractors for the rally from Punjab, Haryana, Uttar Pradesh and Rajasthan already parked on Delhi's borders

State farmers to hold tractor rally

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

REJECTING the Centre's proposal to put the farm laws on hold for two years, Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha leader Kodihalli Chandrashekhar said they will go ahead with the tractor rally in Bengaluru on Republic Day in solidarity with their counterparts in Delhi.

Instead of heeding to farmers' demands, the Centre is pushing half-hearted solutions. Similarly, the State Government is also pushing farmers into a corner by adopting the laws, along with the prohibition on cow slaughter, he noted. P7

Swalpa adjust maadi? BSY's cabinet seethes with discontent

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

BOLSTERED by the central party command's renewed espousal of faith in him, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa is seeking to calm the waters of dissent by recrafting the shape of his cabinet. But playing captain is never easy when the seas are rough. The portfolios he allocated today to his seven new ministers has itself become a fresh point of contention.

Last week's long-awaited cabinet expansion had already created heartburn among those left out. Now, as many ministers express displeasure over not getting what they wanted, Operation Salvage is turning truly messy.

For one, the CM continues to keep key portfolios such as Finance, Bengaluru Development and Energy with him -- that reduces the pool from which he can draw. As a consequence, those who had to make space for the seven legislators who took oath as ministers on January 13 are openly airing their discontent, in action if not words.

Minister Gopalaiah has been given the Horticulture portfolio while new inductee Umesh Katti gets Food and Civil Supplies that was with the former. While Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai gets additional responsibility of Law and Parliamentary Affairs, J C Madhuswamy has been moved Medical Education, Kannada and Culture portfolio. Aravind Limbavali, who was eyeing Bengaluru Development, gets Forest ministry, while M T B Nagaraj will be the new Excise Minister.

R Shankar has been given Municipal Administration and Sericulture while Fisheries, Ports and Inland Transport, which was with Kota Srinivas Poojari, has been given to S Angara, the new minister. C C Patil gets Small Scale Industries, Information and Public Relations.

Five dead in blaze at Serum Institute facility

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

FIVE persons were charred to death after a fire broke out at Serum Institute of India's plant at Manjri in Pune on Thursday afternoon. The blaze occurred at an under-construction building and all the dead were contractual workers doing electrical works in the building.

The deceased were Pune residents Mahendra Ingle and Pratik Pashte, Rama Shankar Harijan and Bipin Saroj from UP, and Bihar native Sushil Kumar Pandey.

Nine people were evacuated from the spot. According to a labourer who was working in the building at the time of incident, the mishap happened due to sparks from welding works on the sixth floor. However, officials said the cause is yet to be ascertained.

"We will carry out further investigation and ascertain the cause of the fire," said Pune Fire Brigade chief Prashant Ranpise.

The Manjari facility is where the Covishield vaccines are made. However, the building where fire broke out is around 1 km away from the Covishield vaccine manufacturing unit. Serum Institute CEO Adar Poonawalla said Covishield vaccine production will not be hit due to the fire incident.

According to eyewitnesses, there were over 200 workers in the building. After the fire broke out, they tried to rush out. But the fire and smoke spread so fast that their path was blocked, forcing many to jump out of the windows.

Clarifying that the fire broke out in the BCG vaccine section, Maharashtra CM Uddhav Thackeray said, "The fire occurred due to an electric fault during the on-going construction works. Probe will reveal all details."

Serum has announced ₹25 lakh compensation to families of persons who died in the fire.

SC grants bail to actor Ragini in drugs case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KANNADA actor Ragini Dwivedi, who was arrested in connection with the Sandalwood drugs case, was granted bail by the Supreme Court on Thursday.

Ragini was arrested by the Bengaluru Central Crime Branch (CCB) on September 4 last year, when she appeared before the investigating officer for inquiry in the case. Sources said that Ragini, who has been lodged in the Bengaluru Central Prison for more than 130 days, will be released once her advocates get a copy of the court order and fulfil the bail conditions. It is learnt that she may be released on Friday. P5

Less exam stress for students this year

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IN a move aimed at reducing stress among students in the light of the Covid-19 pandemic, the State Education Department has come out with several guidelines on conducting the final examination for students of Classes 1 to 9 and also for SSLC students.

For students of Classes 1 to 5, schools have been permitted to take a decision on promoting them based on only one Formative and one Summative Assessments instead of two and one, respectively.

The guidelines, issued by Commissioner, Department of Education, on Thursday stated that considering the pandemic situation, and also the fact that lessons taught till now have been mostly online, on DD Chandana and through Vidyagama, schools will be conducting only one FA and one SA examination for Classes 1 to 5.

For Classes 6 to 9, the department has come up with an Alternative Academic Calendar. Considering the fact that the schools have not been able to conduct regular classes and the students, even under the Vidyagama programme, have been coming to schools only alternate days, the teachers can identify lessons which have continuity (spiral) for the next academic year.

"It is good if the schools are given an option to decide on the ability of the child and also the spiral curriculum. Then it won't burden the child or the teacher," said D Shashikumar of Karnataka Associated Managements of English Medium Schools (KAMS). P2

Sasikala tests +ve for Covid, Chennai return to be delayed

Sasikala being taken to Victoria Hospital on Thursday | EXPRESS

CT SCAN CONFIRMS INFECTION

Sasikala's RT-PCR test, which was conducted at Bowring Hospital on Wednesday, had come negative. In less than 24 hours, the same test was repeated on her at Victoria Hospital, which returned Covid-positive. According to sources, the RT-PCR test can sometimes come as false negative or false positive. "Her CT scan of chest clearly showed severe infection of lungs. It strongly indicated that she had contracted Covid-19," said sources.

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

V K Sasikala, the jailed close associate of former Tamil Nadu chief minister J Jayalalithaa, has tested positive for Covid-19. She has been shifted to the ICU in the trauma care centre (TCC) at Victoria Hospital, which is exclusively for Covid-19 patients. "She is being given oxygen and is not on ventilator support. We are closely monitoring her," said Director-cum-Dean of Bangalore Medical College and Research Institute (BMCRI), Dr C R Jayanthi.

Sasikala, who was keen to return to Chennai upon her release from prison on January 27, will now have to stay put in Bengaluru until her complete recovery. Her Covid test result has thrown the authorities at the Bengaluru Central Prison in a tizzy. "We don't know how she contracted the virus. She is sharing a room with co accused and sister-in-law Ilavarasi in the prison, which is in a high-security block," said sources in the Prisons Department. P7

BBMP commits to Paris Agreement on climate change

Plan to make Bengaluru emission-neutral, climate-resilient city by 2050

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

BENGALURU has now given its commitment to the Paris Agreement to keep rise in global average temperatures within 2°C of pre-industrial levels, and to pursue efforts to limit temperature rises even further to only 1.50 degrees Celsius.

The Paris Agreement is a legally binding international treaty on climate change.

BBMP Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad recently wrote to Mayor Garcetti, the 42nd Mayor of Los Angeles, giving his commitment. The Agreement aims to strengthen the ability of countries to deal with unavoidable impacts of climate change through adaptation. This is set in the context of sustainable development and on the basis of inclusivity for all communities.

Research by C40 and partners shows concrete action is necessary to achieve the ambition of the Paris Agreement.

The plan provides a roadmap outlining the pace, scale and prioritization of action needed by C40 member cities, and identifies these cities' share of the remaining global carbon budgets to 2100 that would keep us on a climate safe path.

"To support the implementation of the Paris Agreement, I commit the City of Bengaluru to develop and begin implementing a climate action plan (or series of plans) that will deliver action consistent with the ambitions of the Paris Agreement, and addresses both the need to reduce greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions and adapt to the impacts of climate change," Prasad said in the letter, a copy of which is with TNIE.

Prasad said he has committed that Bengaluru will deliver a GHG emissions neutral and climate resilient city by 2050, and set an interim target for 2030. It will demonstrate how the city will adapt and improve resilience to climate hazards that may impact the city.

Rajendra Cholan, BBMP Special Commissioner, Health, said talks with stakeholders and government departments like the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board, transport and energy departments were being held.

PU DEPT MAY COME UNDER SAKALA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

THE state government is considering bringing the Department of Pre-University Education under the 'Sakala' scheme.

The aim of the scheme under the Karnataka Guarantee of Services to Citizens Act is to deliver government services within a stipulated time.

Primary and Secondary Education Minister S Suresh Kumar said during a meeting that there have been many complaints that the department's works are getting slower. Hence, he is considering bringing the services under the Sakala scheme, he said.

Speaking about the various demands of PU lecturers, who are waiting for guidelines on transfers, the minister said, "The government is working on framing of rules. Once it is done, we will take up the issues of transfers."

Meanwhile, discussing the issue of 2,357 teachers in aided colleges still having not completed their BEd, the minister said that he has discussed the issue with the VCs of Open Universities. "Teachers have demanded that the government should increase seats in Open Universities so that they can finish their BEd courses. I will discuss it with Higher Education Minister Dr Ashwath Narayan," he said.

CAT-IIIB: First flight lands in fog

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AT 7.41 am on Thursday, a piece of aviation history was created when the first ever flight landed at Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) in poor visibility conditions. Indigo's 6E-6389 from Lucknow had a successful touchdown on South Runway. This is the first time a flight has ever landed in low visibility conditions in any airport in South India.

KIA becomes the sixth airport in the country to be equipped with this facility. The airport commenced operations on May 24, 2008, but fog and wintry weather ensured frequent disruptions in travel plans of lakhs of flyers from November to February annually.

A flight from Lucknow touches down on a foggy Thursday morning | EXPRESS

According to airport operator Bangalore International Airport Limited (BIAL), radiation fog set in early on Thursday, resulting in a rapid drop in visibility to 200 metres.

The South Runway can facilitate aircraft landing with a Runway Visual Range as low as 50 metres and takeoffs at 125 metres, a BIAL release said. "Before the upgrade, the permissible visual range was 550 metres for landing and 300 metres for takeoff. This upgrade is expected to reduce disruption in operations and benefit passengers.

BIAL CEO Hari Marar told TNIE, "The successful landing under CAT-IIIB conditions is a fabulous accomplishment for us at Bengaluru airport. This stands testament to our firm commitment to equip the airport with cutting-edge technology."

Schools can decide on lessons, activities

CONSIDERING the remainder of the current academic year, schools can decide on the lessons to be taught, activities that can be planned to monitor the child's learning ability and conduct examination and evaluation at the school level.

For Classes 6-9, if the schools have already conducted FA 1,2,3,4, then the best results of any two FAs can be considered for promotion of the child to the next class. If the exams have not been conducted, then only one FA and one SA has to be considered.

For Class 10 students too, the teachers can decide on the syllabus based on the activities currently being followed — like Vidyagama, online classes, YouTube learning, activities framed, worksheets given, etc. If the schools have already done FA 1,2,3 or 4, conducted eight project works already, then the best of two FAs or four project works should be considered.

"The schools have also been permitted to teach particular lessons in the syllabus if it is important for the next academic year, and tell the students that it will not be considered for the exam," said an official.

- Time table for assessment for schools that have not conducted FAs so far (For Std 6 to 9)
- First FA (10 marks): In Feb third week
- Second FA (10 marks): In April fourth week
- SA (30 marks): In last week of May, completed by June first week
- Results: June second week

For SSLC Students

- 1FA: Feb last week
- 2FA: April third week
- Four project works: Jan-April (to be conducted every month subject-wise)

CYCLE AND THE CITY

Smart City: Bengaluru's bicycle lanes not on track

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WHILE the newly completed cycle track on the footpath of Race Course Road has made many citizens happy, they can't help but wonder when the whole circuit will be completed.

Set up under the Bengaluru Smart City project, the stretch on Race Course Road is part of a larger cycling circuit. While the smart roads will be completed by January-end, the deadline for the cycle tracks is likely to be March-end due to lack of coordination between six BBMP engineers overseeing the project.

"I have completed the cycle track on Race Course Road. It is supposed to connect to Palace Road, Raj Bhavan Road and Chalukya Circle, but when the connection will be done is not known as the plan and coordination with other road engineers and traffic police officials is not yet drawn," a BBMP engineer said.

This has left citizens in a lurch. Prashanth L, a cyclist said: "Every one is praising the cycle track. But they should ask where the other tracks are, because no cyclist can cycle on the footpath only at Race Course Road. There are no markings on the ground identifying the tracks and creating spaces for bicycles on the roads, especially at the junctions."

Another BBMP engineer assigned other roads said that there was still no clarity on which side of the road the track should be set up and where it will connect. "So it is unlikely that the tracks will be ready for use by January-end even if the roads are done. It is important to have cycle tracks as it will change the look and layout of the central area of the city," the other engineer said.

Creation of cycle tracks and green footpaths for pedestrians is a part of the Smart City project, which includes Palace Road, Raj Bhavan Road, the road opposite to the planetarium, and surrounding areas.

Recently, BBMP Administrator Gaurav Gupta did a field survey and set a January-end deadline. Smart City in-charge minister Byrathi Basavaraj had also assured citizens that Phase-1 of the Smart City roads will be completed within the stipulated time.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

22nd January : The Moon heralds a sensitive day. Is this a good thing? Well, I'm not quite sure! It's fine if we are all aware of other people's feelings and concerned not to cause upset. But it's not so good if we are all so touchy that we ourselves take offence when none is intended.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)

You'll be turning a corner at work before long, perhaps at the beginning of next week. But the real point that your stars are trying to make is that firm foundations are necessary to worldly success. But, then, so are good ideas, so get your thinking-cap on.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)

Travel stars are reaching yet a new peak and you may be feeling strangely restless. Let me warn you, though, that this is no time for complacency. Drop your guard and you'll make a silly mistake, one which is so easily avoided: check, re-check and check again!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)

There is no knowing where an invitation or proposal will take you now or over the weekend. It's very much a case of following the positive path and letting fate weave its wonderful web. You could be making rash promises, so ensure that you're prepared to follow them through.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)

There is simply no way to get plans off the ground without the full support of partners and colleagues. Someone older or more experienced holds the key, perhaps in the form of financial backing. Your strong point now is your charm - and your irresistible ability to wrap partners around your little finger.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)

It's time to pamper yourself. You're coming to the end of a period when there's been continual pressure on your expenses, but it's still too early to relax. Wait for the offers to flood in. Keep your diary open, just in case you get a better social offer!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)

You may be pushed into making a snap decision but, if you know what's good for you, you will draw back from a final commitment. Romantic Virgos can expect events to move their way, and about time, too. But don't let anyone blame you for past misdemeanours - when they're not your fault!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)

A battle royal is taking place between family commitments and worldly ambitions. The next major lunar pattern is seeing to it that the personal side of life will win out over your public duties. If you've felt hard-done-by recently, don't worry - you're about to turn the tables on arrival.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

You may be inclined to act the firebrand. Far better, though, to stand aside and to let other people fight their own battles. There is absolutely no point in getting involved, especially as you might make a bad situation worse. Oh, and isn't it about time you told someone you loved them?

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)

The general mood should alter around early evening, taking you into more serious realms. Prepare for a change of plan and keep your schedule open for the next few days. A mystery could be cleared up, but, confusingly, there could be more than one answer.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)

Life is certainly hotting up and you'll put the health of your relationships, both personal and professional, before everything else. Romantic Capricorns are in for a treat, but don't rush it - the next four weeks bring pleasant emotional planets. Be sceptical of amazing financial offers, though.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

Get things moving while a great many decisive planets are so very active. You must remember, though, that others have contributed to your happiness and offer them the recognition and gratitude they deserve. After all, while life is heading your way, you need to carry partners with you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)

There can be few Pisceans who are not enjoying a love affair of sorts at the moment, whether with a long-term partner, a new friend, or even a place, a pet or a favourite dream! Social and emotional pressures in your horoscope are overwhelming, and there's a sense of freedom and infinite possibilities.

COVAXIN CONSENT FORM NOT GIVEN, SAY RECIPIENTS

Many claim they were unaware of forms, some complain they can't read English

RANJANI MADHAVAN @Bengaluru

A health worker at Minto Ophthalmic Hospital gets the jab | SHRIRAM BN

THE process of administering Bharat Biotech's Covaxin, already mired in controversy and doubt, has not been without problems in Karnataka.

Although the Centre has approved Covaxin for emergency use, phase 3 trials which measure efficacy are still under way. One centre each in six districts — Ballari, Shivamogga, Hassan, Chamarajanagar, Chikkamagaluru and Davanagere — have been given doses of Covaxin. The rest of the state has received doses of Oxford University's Covishield.

Beneficiaries who receive a shot of Covaxin are to sign a consent form, and in case of an illiterate person, it has to be signed in the presence of an impartial witness. However, several people at centres where Covaxin is being used, have said that they either received no consent form, or were unaware that such a form existed. When they did receive the form, it was in English.

Some health workers did not even know whether they were given Covishield or Covaxin.

"I was given Covaxin, but I was not asked to read or fill any consent form before taking it. The vaccinators only checked my blood pressure and asked for some personal and health information. If there is such a permission form, they should have taken my signature," an Asha worker in Ballari district told TNIE, on condition of anonymity.

A data entry operator in Sakleshpur, Hassan, who took Covaxin said, "I was not given any permission form. They only took my Aadhaar information before giving the vaccine."

What the form says

The three-page consent form is crucial for many reasons. One, it states that "in case of any adverse events or serious adverse events, you will be provided medically recognised standard of care in government designated and authorised centres/hospitals. The compensation for serious adverse events will be paid by sponsor (BBIL) if the SAE is proven to be causally related to the vaccine".

The details sought include recipient's name, date of birth, age, gender, marital status, address, phone number, name and address of vaccination site, name and number of vaccinator or supervising officer. Questions on medical history include information about medication for a chronic illness, name of illness, whether they under radiotherapy, etc.

An excerpt of the consent form reads, "I have been provided and have read, or had been explained to me, the fact sheet about the Covid-19 vaccination. I understand that this vaccine requires two doses for it to be effective and two doses need to be administered. I have been allowed to ask questions which were answered to my satisfaction. I understand the benefits and risks of the vaccination as described. I request that the Covid-19 vaccination be given to me."

A third Covaxin beneficiary who is a staff nurse and works with ASHA workers in Yelandur taluk, Chamarajanagar district, said, "I took Covaxin but was not given any consent form. They only checked my blood pressure and pulse rate and wrote down my details manually."

The consent form requires the vaccinator to confirm and sign that they have reviewed the details of side-effects with the vaccine recipient.

The form is not just about getting the signature as a purely mechanical process, but ensuring that the beneficiary is explained each section of the consent form and answering any questions they have, so that they understand it, said Dr Anant Bhan, researcher, Global Health, Bioethics and Health Policy.

"Consent has four factors -- information, understanding, ensuring it is voluntary and not coerced, as well as documentation for proof. Not giving the consent form to the Covaxin beneficiary is a clear violation of protocol, as the vaccine has been approved for restricted emergency use under the condition that the beneficiary receives this form. The vaccine is in clinical trial mode and is collecting data for study. People need to be told that the vaccine has been approved under special circumstances and that they will be tracked for any adverse effects following immunisation, if any, and whom to report if such things happen," Dr Bhan said.

Forms in English

Some doctors and nurses who received Covaxin in Vijayanagar Institute of Medical Sciences, Hassan Institute of Medical Sciences and McGann District Hospital in Shivamogga, said they did receive the consent form and it was in English.

Public Health Doctor Dr Sylvia Karpagam said, "Pourakarmikas, ASHA workers, Group D employees, are often Dalit women and men. They are at the lowest end of the hierarchy and may not be able to understand English. Healthcare workers who come under contractors may be vulnerable and may be forced to take the vaccine, under orders, without taking their consent."

Dr Bhan added that the consent form must be printed in the languages of each state.

JAB FOR THE WARRIOR

I took the vaccine today and I'm doing perfectly fine. All healthcare workers and frontline warriors should volunteer for the vaccination without fear and apprehension. The vaccines given in India are absolutely safe and have had no major adverse side-effects . Mild fever, injection site pain and body ache are not side-effects but only effects of the vaccine. Getting the jab is the only way we can end this pandemic. When more people take the vaccine, it boosts public confidence. Even those who are apprehensive or worried will come forward to take the jab. With more people getting vaccinated, we can achieve herd immunity

Dr C N Manjunath, Director of Jayadeva Institute of Cardiology

I registered willingly, but was a little apprehensive. However, after weighing the risk and the benefits, I opted for it. There have been no side-effects or discomfort. A few of my colleagues had mild to moderate body pain and felt feverish too. But they are also doing absolutely fine now. I would strongly recommend that everyone takes the vaccine. I thank everyone who was involved in the development of this vaccine. My wife is also a doctor and is waiting for her turn. We should remember that we still need to follow protocol — wearing a mask, maintaining social distance and washing hands frequently even after vaccination

22 suffer side-effects in B'luru West Zone

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

IN all, 22 adverse events following immunisation (AEFI) were reported after beneficiaries took the Covid vaccine in BBMP West Zone on Thursday. This is the highest number of AEFIs reported from any zone, or all zones put together in Bengaluru, till date.

Manoranjan Hegde, health officer, West Zone, said, "Minor AEFIs including giddiness, fever, chills, pain at the site of injection were reported. The beneficiaries did not require hospitalisation, and only needed observation. Medicines were given to those with fever and chills but not to those with giddiness."

The only other zone in the capital with AEFI was South Zone, with one case of a woman sufferning from dizziness for a few seconds.

Shivakumar, health officer, South Zone, said, "This is not really an AEFI and may have happened due to pain or anxiety. She was fine after a few seconds and did not need medicines."

Totally, 52 per cent of the targeted beneficiaries were given the vaccine in the city on Thursday — 1,027 from the government and 4,282 from the private sector — until 8.30 pm. Usually, the drive is only till 5 pm but was extended for the first time on Thursday. Of the 32,773 targeted people, 17,190 could get the jab. Haveri, Uttara Kannada and Yadgir had zero targets and zero achievement.

The best performing districts were Mandya (82%), Chikkaballapur (78%), Dharwad (75%), Hassan (74%) and Chikkamagaluru (72%).

The cumulative coverage from January 16 to January 21 has been 57 per cent. No major AEFI cases were reported across the state, according to the government.

Tumakuru officials fake taking jab

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Tumakuru

TWO Tumakuru health department officials are in the eye of a storm after a video of them pretending to take the vaccine went viral on social media.

District Health Officer Dr M B Nagendrappa and principal of the health staff training institute Dr Rajani M pretended to take the vaccine at the District Training Centre (DTC) on January 16.

Deputy Commissioner Dr Rakesh Kumar had visited the centre that day and advised senior health officials to take the shot as it would send a message to health workers who had signed up for the vaccine.

"I did pretend for the demonstration, but I took the vaccine later. The information has not been uploaded as mapping was not done in my case," Dr Nagendrappa told The New Indian Express.

Dr Rajani, said, "Mapping for my vaccination was done and I got the jab much earlier, before demonstrating to the media."

Married daughters of deceased govt staffers can get job

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the Karnataka High Court's order that married daughters are also eligible to seek jobs on compassionate grounds, the state cabinet on Wednesday gave administrative approval to amend the Karnataka Civil Services (Appointment on Compassionate Grounds) Rules. The amends will allow family members of a deceased state government employee, including married daughters, to apply for jobs.

Home Minister Basavraj Bommai, who also assumed charge as Law and Parliamentary affairs minister on Wednesday, said the amendment will also extend to whoever assumes responsibility as the primary care giver of the deceased's parents or spouse but falls within the definition of a family member. The cabinet agreed to extend the government guarantee by a year for a loan of Rs 24 crore taken by Karnataka State Handloom Development Corporation.

At a cost of ₹35 crore, the e-administration facility under KSWAN will be extended to 58 tahsildars office, 30 district training centres, 227 taluk panchayats, and 3 regional commission offices. The state cabinet has also given the administrative nod to undertake the construction of toilets in 5.5 lakh households for the next five years under the Swachch Bharat mission. At least 70 per cent of the cost will come from the state and Central government while 30 per cent will be transferred by the 15th Finance Commission.

The cabinet agreed to allow a one-time regularisation of about 65 Housing Board layouts constructed without permissions, approvals or sanctions by local administration and municipal bodies. "These layouts have been there since 2000. While sites have been allotted already, amenities and facilities have not been provided due to permissions and sanctions being withheld by local authorities. This is a one-time regularisation effort," said Bommai, adding that the cabinet will ensure such instances do not repeat.

The cabinet agreed that at the cost of ₹10.27 crore, about 62,580 Anganwadi helpers and 65,911 workers will be given two sets of uniforms, sarees sourced from the Handlooms Development Corporation. The cabinet has given the administrative nod to float tenders to procure and distribute motorised vehicles to 1,500 physically handicapped individuals at the cost of ₹12.75 crore and to set up a project report for lift irrigation from Tunga river to fill up lakes in Honalli. The Cabinet approved the Governor's speech draft for the upcoming joint session of the state legislature.

IN A SMART MOVE, BSY RETAINS KEY PORTFOLIOS

Bengaluru Development, Energy, Infrastructure in demand, could cause heartburn; CM promises Munirathna that he'll be inducted

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

IN a smart move, keeping elections, especially the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) polls in mind, Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa retained the Bengaluru Development portfolio, coveted by many of his cabinet colleagues.

Of 33 ministers in Yediyurappa's cabinet, eight are from Bengaluru. While five of them — Deputy CM Ashwath Narayan, V Somanna, Suresh Kumar, Aravind Limbavali and R Ashoka are from the old team, ST Somashekar, Byrathi Basavaraj and Gopalaiah are from the new team.

This apart, Yediyurappa has also promised Rajarajeshwarinagar MLA Munirathna that he will induct him into the ministry for helping him form the government.

Allocating Bengaluru Development to any one of these ministers would have widened the gap between the old and new teams, and also the ministers. This could impact BBMP elections, BJP sources said. There was a buzz that Limbavali was keen on the portfolio, but was given Forests.

On Wednesday, the Congress appointed R Ramalinga Reddy as a KPCC Working President, clearly with the BBMP elections in mind. This also means that the BJP has to flex some muscle against the Congress veteran. "Each of these eight MLAs is strong in some constituencies – Ashoka has a hold on Bengaluru South, Somanna and Suresh Kumar on the West, Somashekar and Ashwath Narayan on the North, Aravinda Limbavali on the East.

"Giving importance to any one of them might not be acceptable to the others, and could affect the BBMP polls. BJP is under pressure to win the elections as the party is ruling the State, so the CM cannot take a risk at this time," said BJP sources.

Other than Backward Classes and Information and Public Relations, Yediyurappa retained most of the portfolios he was holding. Minister Umesh Katti, who got Food and Civil Supplies, was said to be eying Energy.

A few other ministers, including Ramesh Jarkiholi, was also hoping to bag Energy. Again, the CM has kept this portfolio, controlling more damage. Infrastructure is another portfolio in demand, which he has not allocated to anyone.

Madhuswamy, Sudhakar miffed

ANAND Singh, who was holding the Forest ministry, now gets Tourism. New minister C P Yogeshwar has been allocated the Minor Irrigation ministry. Some of the senior ministers including Medium and Large-Scale Industries Minister Jagadish Shettar, Revenue Minister R Ashoka, Primary and Secondary Education Minister S Suresh Kumar, Housing Minister V Somanna and DyCMs Laxman Savadi, Dr Ashwath Narayan and Govind Karjol were left untouched.

Hours after allocating the portfolios, the CM and senior ministers held talks with those sulking to take them into confidence. However, four ministers — J C Madhuswamy who was shifted from Law and Parliamentary Affairs to Medical Education; Narayan Gowda, who was moved from Horticulture to Sports and Youth Services; and M T B Nagaraj, who was given Excise, and Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar abstained from cabinet meeting.

Some of them are believed to have met at Sudhakar's residence in Bengaluru. Earlier in the day, Madhuswamy had skipped the CM's programme at Siddaganga Mutt in Tumakuru. Senior ministers R Ashoka and Basavaraj Bommai have been assigned the task of talking to the disgruntled ministers and dousing the discontent. After the talks, Gopalaiah and Nagaraj said the CM is their leader and they will work as per his direction. "I have the satisfaction of doing a good job even during the lockdown. Whatever differences, we have, it will be sorted out," Gopalaiah said.

Earlier, the minister had said, "People know how I worked. But my portfolio has been changed. Four or five of us have similar issues which we will discuss with the CM."

Have sorted out differences with ministers: Yediyurappa

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister BS Yediyurappa said on Thursday that he spoke to ministers who had expressed displeasure over the portfolio allocation and the issue has been sorted out.

He said all ministers, including JC Madhuswamy and K Gopalaiah, do not have any issues with the changes. "They were little upset and I have spoken to all of them. Now, there is no dissatisfaction or differences," he told reporters.

Madhuswamy was miffed over being shifted from Law and Parliamentary Affairs to Medical Education and Kannada and Culture Department and K Gopaliah was upset over the change from Food and Civil Supplies to Horticulture. He said expansion and allocation of portfolios is not an easy task and it is difficult to make everyone happy. "I have given them responsibilities after holding discussions. Let them work now and if they do not like it, we can make changes," he added.

'Didn't interfere in ministry allocation'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kalaburagi

BJP State unit vice-president B Y Vijayendra, who is also the son of Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa, has denied allegations that he has interfered in the allocation of portfolios.

Vijayendra, who was in Kalaburagi for attending a private programme on Thursday, said that the Chief Minister has a wide experience of over three decades in politics and in administrative matters. "He handles the post of the Chief Minister independently. If this is so, why will he allow me to interfere?" Vijayendra said.

Dismissing the Congress rally, Vijayendra said that prior to the recent assembly byelections, Congress had organized a big rally in Bengaluru. After a humiliating defeat in the bypolls and failure in getting its followers elected in the Gram Panchayat elections, the Congress leaders were pretending before the people and stating that they would launch movements, he said.

"Congress is shedding crocodile tears for farmers. Yediyurappa is the leader of the farmers and has launched many programmes for their welfare. Farmers trust the CM," Vijayendra claimed.

Later, Vijayendra participated in the death anniversary ceremony of former BJP leader of Jewargi Shivalingappa Gowda Naribol, the father of former MLA Doddappa Gowda Patil Naribol.

Vijayendra, who spoke on the occasion, said that it was because of the struggle launched by late Shivalingappa Gowda that BJP has grown in Jewargi district.

Meanwhile, he watched the 3D documentary, screened on the dais, of the blueprint of the pilgrimage centre, planned with a 111-ft statue of the seer at his birthplace, Veerapura, in Magadi taluk.

"I have already released Rs 25 crore for the project, and will grant more as it should be a unique pilgrimage centre with a museum and meditation centre," Yediyurappa said. "Whenever I came here, the seer would take me into his chamber and give sermons on the right path, and sometimes guide me back on track. My day never starts without praying to him."

The current head of the mutt, Sri Siddalinga Swami, claimed that the centenarian has great affection for Yediyurappa.

Union Minister of State for Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises Pratap Chandra Sarangi was impressed with the yeoman's contribution of the seer, especially the promotion of Sanskrit education at the mutt. "I wish this could be the centre of the ancient gurukula system of teaching students to be self-reliant," he remarked.

DyCM Dr C N Ashwath Narayan praised Yediyurappa as a leader of great calibre who takes everyone along with him. Industries Minister Jagadish Shettar was also present.

Meanwhile, Madhuswamy told reporters that he would not resign from his post.

Man befriends minor, rapes her with friends

Survivor had come in contact with accused through social networking site; he had abused her last November too

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

HANUMANTHANAGAR police on Thursday arrested a gang of five men on charges of a gang-raping a minor and abetting the act. The survivor came in contact with the accused on a social networking site.

The arrested, Venkatesh, Chetan and Lekhan, residents of Srinagar, are aged between 23 and 25 years.

A senior police officer said the prime accused, Venkatesh, befriended the 17-year-old student of first-year PU in a private college, and would force her to meet him. The girl would visit her grandparents' house, and on January 17, went to meet him as per Venkatesh's instructions.

Venkatesh and his friend Lekhan took her to their friends' apartment in Guttahalli, where Chetan joined them. Three of them raped her, while three others stood guard outside the house.

In the middle of the night, her grandfather woke up and noticed she was missing. He called her parents and the police, who started a massive search in the area.

Meanwhile, the accused, who was bringing her home, realised that a search had been launched for her. Sensing trouble, Venkatesh dropped her near a bus stop in the early hours and fled.

Medical test result

The girl was found by the family and taken home where she revealed what had happened. A medical test confirmed that she had been sexually assaulted.

The girl also informed the police that last November, Venkatesh had taken her in a car to a nearby park and gang-raped her with his friends Abhishek and Babu.

Based on her statement, they were booked under POCSO and charged with gang rape. One of the friends who was also involved in the crime is absconding, and efforts are on to find him, a police officer added.

Notice to state, BU, over transfer of Bio-Park land

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Thursday issued notices to the state government and others while hearing a PIL questioning the allotment of land to Inter University Centre for Yogic Sciences (IUCYS) and the Central University of Karnataka (CU-K) in the precincts of Bio-Park on the Bangalore University (BU) campus.

A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum issued notices to the Chief Secretary, Vice Chancellor, Bangalore University, Director and Commissioner of Technical Education, Principal Secretaries of the Departments of Higher Education, and Environment and Forest, the Chairman of Karnataka Biodiversity Board, the Director of Inter University Centre for Yogic Sciences and several others.

On March 17, the state government permitted BU to allot 15 acres of Bio-Park land to IUCYS and 10 acres to CU-K. On June 23, 2020, BU registered a lease deed in favour of IUCYS for 15 acres for a period of 30 years at a lease rental of ₹7.5 lakh per annum. On August 26, 2020, 10 acres of land in Sy No 94 was registered in the name of CU-K.

The petitioner, city-based advocate Dr K B Vijyayakumar, contended that BU, the state government and IUCYS are a party to the dance of destruction of greenery and sanctum sanctorum for various species of birds and trees, etc. The allottees, IUCYS and CU-K had not taken permission from any authority for the cutting of trees, shrubs and plants and clearing of vegetation, he alleged.

He sought directions to the Chief Secretary and Vice Chancellor of BU to cancel all allotments of land made to IUCYS and CU-K within BU and direct the university to explore alternative land outside the precincts of the Bio-Park and re-allocate it with approval from the state government.

He also requested the court to issue directions to declare the Bio-Park as deemed forest land and BU to immediately appoint an official to nurture and develop all the Bio-parks.

The petitioner contended that Bio-Park extends to over 300 acres of green cover with multiple check-dams that have ramped up groundwater levels over the years. BU has been allotted about 1,112.04 acres of land by the Government on long lease. Of these, apart from the structures that belong to BU itself, land has been allotted to several other institutions.

Activist moves court against deputing teachers for non-teaching purposes

Bengaluru: A social activist moved the Karnataka HC with a PIL against arbitrary exercise of powers by the state government by transfer of teachers on deputation, and absorbing them into different departments without any rules. Contending that such transfer and absorption of staff to executive and administrative posts have been carried out at the behest of recommendation letters by ministers and MLAs, petitioner KC Rajanna said such orders have been made to the Social Welfare Department. A representation was submitted to the government to take back all these teaching staff and post them in the schools and colleges, but it wasn't considered, the petitioner claimed. ENS

Forest fire: Dept plans for dry months ahead

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

IN a bid to keep forest fires under check, the Karnataka Forest Department this time around is ensuring that green pastures are not dry, and have accordingly decided to constantly keep watering vulnerable areas along the highways. The department is also in talks with the Indian Air Force to have helicopters deployed in case of any emergencies. Officials held a meeting with their counterparts at the Fire and Emergency Services Department on Thursday, to chalk out the plan for the dry months ahead.

A series of tasks have been listed to be undertaken in all the tiger reserves and wildlife sanctuaries. Conservationists however question, "How will the funds be managed, especially at a time when the department has fewer resources to pay wages to those in the anti-poaching camps, and have also admitted that they have less funds to mitigate fires, compared to the previous years?"

Meanwhile, the department is paying special attention to Bandipur and Nagarhole, which see more people, and cases of forest fires have also been rising. Attention is also being paid to the Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary, MM Hills and Kudremukh, which are proposed to be declared as tiger reserves and plans for conservation have been drawn amid criticism from various quarters.

"We have decided that watering will be done along highways, sensitive roads, and other roads to ensure that the grass is not dry and there are no chances of fire. This is the first time that we are trying this, and water will be procured from villages and water bodies in the forests, according to the need. The intention is to keep the grass and soil moist. Drones will be deployed for surveillance, and highway patrolling will be also be carried out based on weather conditions. All vehicles entering forests will be put on surveillance," Bandipur Tiger Reserve Director Natesh Sira Rajappa told TNIE.

'Obtained IAF Clearance'

Officials from other reserves said that they had obtained in- principal clearance from airforce and a formal communication was being held between the forest department head office and Air Chief Marshal. Additional temporary forest watchers are also being deployed in all forests to create fire- lines and intensify foot patrolling. The reserves have also decided to assign and station fire tenders as a precautionary measure along with quick response vehicles, which will move into smaller areas where large fire tenders cannot reach.

State gets notice over illegal buildings in Cubbon Park

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Thursday issued notice to the state government, civic agencies and private organisations on a PIL against alleged unauthorised constructions by those organisations, who have occupied leased land in the Cubbon Park premises.

Hearing the petition filed by Cubbon Park Walkers Association, a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum issued notice to the Chief Secretary, Principal Secretaries of Horticulture Department, Public Works Department, and BWSSB.

The bench also issued notice to the various organisations such as Century Club, Karnataka State Lawn Tennis Association (KSLTA), Karnataka Government Secretariat Club, Karnataka State Government Employees Association, The Press Club and YMCA, for allegedly putting up constructions illegally.

Contending it is highly aggrieved by the constructions which have come up, and are coming up, in the Cubbon Park area, contrary to the directions of the High Court in 2001, the petitioner prayed the court to issue directions to remove the same and restore the park to its original glory and restrain the organisations who have occupied land on lease in the park from further construction.

The Association alleged that the fresh constructions are carried out contrary to the provisions of the Karnataka Parks, Play-Field and Open Spaces (Preservation and Regulation) Act, 1985.

Providing photographs in support of the alleged illegal constructions in the Cubbon Park, the petitioner pointed out the construction of a Hopcoms shop by Horticulture Department, construction by Department of Animal Husbandry and Fisheries, operating tertiary treatment plant by BWSSB, swimming pool by Century Club, swimming pool and an extra tennis court by KSLTA, generator room and tennis court by Secretariat Club, NGO Hall by Karnataka State Government Employees Association, and new structures by The Press Club and YMCA, within the park premises.

Gelatin goes off in truck, kills 6 workers

ENS @Shivamogga

GELATIN sticks being transported in a lorry exploded, killing six labourers working in a stone crushing unit near Hunasodu village on the outskirts of Shivamogga on Thursday night.

According to sources, the intensity of the explosion was such that it created a loud sound. Sources also revealed that the toll may go up as no one is able to go near the accident site due to the dust and pungent smell.

The intensity of the blast was so high that parts of the lorry too were seen strewn near the crushing site. All the deceased were from Bihar and were working in the crushing unit. Rescue operations could not be taken up because of live gelatine material still at the crushing unit area.

Residents experienced two mysterious loud sounds between 10.20 pm and 10.23 pm. It was not immediately clear whether the gelatine blast caused the huge sound.

Deputy Commissioner K B Sivakumar, Superintendent of Police P K M Shantaraju and other senior officers have rushed to the spot.

Many who came out on the streets felt it was an explosion in the air and there was no tremor. Buildings and houses rattled due to the huge explosion, they said.

KERALA ASSEMBLY

House rejects resolution against Speaker

Sreeramakrishnan faces allegations in dollar and gold smuggling cases

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@T'Puram

THE Kerala Assembly on Thursday rejected the resolution moved by UDF seeking removal of Speaker P Sreeramakrishnan from his post amid high-octane political slug-fest between the treasury and opposition benches. The resolution was moved by IUML's Manjeri MLA M Ummer after Deputy Speaker V Sasi, who chaired the session, gave his nod saying he is not looking into the technicality of the allegations being raised. This was after the LDF members raised their objection to moving the resolution. CPM's S Sharma said the notice for the resolution was given to desecrate the sanctity of the Speaker's post and to further the narrow-minded political interests of the UDF.

The resolution was supported by the UDF members as well as the lone BJP representative, O Rajagopal, which invited the 'Co-Li-Bi' allegation from the treasury bench.

Moving the resolution, Ummer said the Speaker represented the honour of the house, but the serious allegations raised against him have dented the Assembly's reputation. He said the Speaker was facing serious allegations in connection with the dollar smuggling case and proximity to those accused in the sensational gold smuggling case. The Speaker had admitted that he has connections with Swapna Suresh, the prime accused in gold smuggling case. The Speaker's Assistant Private Secretary (APS) was questioned by Central agencies probing the smuggling case and there were media reports that the Speaker would be questioned after the Assembly session is over, Ummer said.

HAL's Hawk-i test-fires Smart Anti-Airfield Weapon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

STATE-owned aircraft maker Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd on Thursday successfully test fired a Smart Anti-Airfield Weapon (SAAW) from the Hawk-i aircraft off the coast of Odisha.

The indigenous stand-off weapon developed by the Research Centre Imarat (RCI), DRDO, is the first smart weapon fired from an Indian Hawk-Mk132. The SAAW is an aircraft-launched, advanced, precision strike weapon of 125 kg category used to attack and destroy enemy airfield assets such as radars, bunkers, taxi tracks and runways within a range of 100 km.

It has been earlier successfully test fired from Jaguar aircraft, said a statement issued by the HAL.

R Madhavan, CMD, HAL, said HAL has been focusing on the 'Atmanirbhar Bharat' campaign and the company owned Hawk-i platform is being extensively used for certification of systems and weapons developed indigenously by DRDO and CSIR labs. The PSU is indigenously enhancing the training and combat capability of Hawk-i and they are in discussions with armed forces for integration of various weapons on Hawk platform, said Arup Chatterjee, Director, Engineering and R&D, HAL.

The aircraft, flown by HAL test pilots Wg Cdr (Retd) P Awasthi and Wg Cdr (Retd) M Patel, executed the weapon release in a textbook manner and all mission objectives were met. The telemetry and tracking systems captured all the mission events confirming the success of the trials. The Hawk-i is HAL's internally funded programme offering the Indian Armed Forces an upgrade and combat capability for the Hawk, transforming it into an Advanced Jet Trainer (AJT) providing training on sensors and weapons in peacetime into a potent combat platform during conflict.

'Sasikala put on oxygen, being monitored'

SASIKALA was on Thursday shifted to Victoria Hospital from Bowring Hospital for a CT scan as the latter doesn't have the facility. She was being treated for suspected Severe Acute Respiratory Infection (SARI) after her rapid antigen and RT-PCR tests for Covid-19 at Bowring Hospital had returned negative.

Hospital authorities had repeated an RT-PCR test to confirm her Covid-19 status after a CT scan of the chest indicated "severe" infection and showed "areas of ground glass opacity and consolidation in bilateral lung fields," according to the medical bulletin. "She has dry cough and breathlessness. She has been put on oxygen and is being closely monitored," the hospital sources stated.

Sasikala's oxygen saturation level at the time of admission on Thursday morning was 78 per cent. It had marginally improved by the evening.

Jumbo death: Man who hurled petrol bomb on the run

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Coimbatore

TWO days after a wild elephant died due to lung infection at the Mudumalai Tiger Reserve (MTR), officials have received a video in which the animal is seen being tortured by a man, a resident of Masinagudi, who allegedly threw a petrol bomb on its ear. The incident was recorded by the man's neighbour on mobile phone. The attack resulted in a grievous ear injury and severe loss of blood, leading to acute anaemia.

The issue had blown up on the social media, and wildlife activists had demanded that the forest department arrest those behind it. The video was shared with forest officials on Thursday. "The animal was seen crying in the video and the inhuman activity is just disgusting. It seems that the accused flung the bomb unable to bear the animal's frequent visits to the area. He is absconding now, but we will arrest him soon," said KK Kaushal, Field Director of MTR.

He added that the animal died due to the wound on its back, as an infection had formed which extended up to its lung. Meanwhile, another video had gone viral on social media, in which an MTR staff, unable to bear his grief over the elephant's death, is seen wailing near the carcass of the animal at Theppakkadu elephant camp.

According to sources, this is not an isolated incident. A few months ago, five wild dogs (dhole) were poisoned to death near Udhagamandalam, and a few men were arrested in connection to it in September last.

RBI tells banks to find ways to push ₹10 coins

VINCENT D'SOUZA @Mangaluru

FIFTEEN years after its introduction, the Rs 10 coin has failed to find acceptance by a majority of trades and services, and has turned into a headache for banks and the Reserve Bank of India (RBI). In fact, there are mini mountains of Rs 10 coins in currency chests in banks, said B Mahesh, Assistant General Manager, RBI, at the District Level Currency Management Committee meeting held in Mangaluru on Thursday.

Such is the stock of Rs 10 coins in banks across the state, that a few banks have reportedly stopped accepting the coin from customers, he said. He advised banks to find innovative ways to push the legal tender, like putting out advertisements and promotion campaigns to kill rumours surrounding the jinxed coin, and educate the masses that the coins are not counterfeit.

Meanwhile, old currency notes of Rs 100 will not be in circulation from May, with the RBI planning to withdraw them by March/April.

Farm sector being opened up for cronies, say farmer leaders

THE governments have targeted to open up the farming sector for their crony friends, and Karnataka was among the first to come out with ordinances for these anti-farmer laws. We will protest until they are revoked," Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) leader Kodihalli Chandrashekhar asserted.

Chandrashekar said the rally will start in Bengaluru right after the Republic Day address by Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa and will be taken out through the main roads in the city to culminate at Freedom Park.

"We will not resort to any violent methods," he maintained and added that there is no reason for the authorities to deny them permission since it is the right of the public to celebrate Republic Day.

Farmers from Mysuru will also take part in the rally along with farmers from other districts. "There is no animosity between farmer organisations and everyone will be united in the rally," he added.

In Shivamogga, KRRS and Hasiru Sene honorary president H R Basavarajappa said that farmers will take out a parade in the state capital in their tractors, bullock carts and other vehicles. Farmers from across the state, the Dalit Sangharsha Samiti, Karnataka Janashakthi Vedike and other organisations have extended their support. Well-known writers and authors from across the state will take part as well, he said.

Basavarajappa noted that around 25,000 to 30,000 farmers will take part in the parade and from Shivamogga district, more than 1,000 farmers are expected to take part.

Karnataka Janshakti Vedike secretary K L Ashok, in a press release, stated that 2,000 farmers from each district will participate in the massive Republic Day parade in Bengaluru.

SENSEX TOUCHES 50K, BUT IS THE MARKET RALLY HERE TO STAY?

The typical December Santa rally came a month later for Indian stock markets with the Sensex touching historic highs of 50,000 on Thursday. The phenomenal rally from 40,000 to 50,000 took a mere 100 days, but the journey is remarkable considering the record depths the Sensex had plunged last March to 25,000. A combination of strong capital inflows, low rates, leaner corporate balance sheets and vaccination drive along with government measures all contributed to the milestone. Market capitalisation crossed ₹197 lakh crore or $2.7 trillion on Wednesday, or about 115% of GDP despite forecasts of over 7% GDP contraction this fiscal. So are markets engineering their own boom or is the ongoing rally here to stay?

These questions are bothering investors and even the RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das. Last month, he warned about stretched valuations posing risks to financial stability. He also flagged, albeit indirectly, the growing disconnect between financial markets (read equities) and the real economy. If we recall, just last February, global markets were on the dragon's tail with S&P to Nikkei seeing a bloodbath fearing the pandemic. But now, both global and local factors are aiding the ongoing rally. Strong global cues following a new US administration, benign global liquidity, faster than expected economic recovery and anticipation of a dream Budget are keeping the hopes of investors high. This momentum is bred into banking, PSU, metals, auto and IT stocks, while some believe midcaps will soon join the party. Lastly, domestic liquidity is abundant and FIIs are buying Indian equities with added fervour.

That said, one of the oddities of markets is that it isn't the economy. Even though equities are buoyant on improved earnings outlook, it is partly due to expenditure cuts. While government spending assures demand boost, it will prompt fiscal deficit to breach record highs. As for the financial system, even the RBI itself is unaware of the actual extent of gross NPAs. Lastly, valuations at current levels are indecently high, which only confirms that unless consumer demand, investments and government spending work in tandem, the market rally may soon peter out.

RACE AGAINST TIME FOR CONG IN KERALA

From the impressive high of the 2019 parliamentary elections to the debacle in the recent local body polls, the fortunes of the Congress in Kerala have taken a swift and unbelievable tumble. Demoralised by the downturn, the party is staring down the barrel with only a couple of months to go for the Assembly elections.

But two recent developments should give it some hope. One, there has been some honest stock-taking with the central leadership dispatching its emissary to assess the damage and carry out repair work. Two, the party managed to send out a message of unity and purpose by putting together a 10-member team comprising leaders from many factions to oversee election preparations. The inclusion of Shashi Tharoor, still considered an outsider by Congress leaders in the state, was a welcome surprise and indicated the party's willingness to try and do all it can to win the coming elections.

However, regaining the lost ground in time for the polls is easier said than done and overcoming the party's inner divisions seems almost improbable. Given the ruling LDF's advantages going into the polls, the Congress will have to try more than it ever did to avoid being out of power for another five years. There are a few things it can do. One, put aside the traditional 'I' versus 'A' factional rivalry, at least temporarily. Two, keep the task of solving the tricky puzzle of who will be CM till after the election. An attempt at this stage will worsen the divisions. Three, give Mullappally Ramachandran, the current president of the party unit, a break. With him contesting, it would be wise to entrust the party captaincy to someone else. Either K Sudhakaran or K Muraleedharan, both Lok Sabha members, can fill in. Four, pick candidates on merit, with winnability being a key criterion. Fielding fresh faces in place of the tried and tested ones along with more women candidates will help the party create a buzz of optimism around its prospects. The leaders will do well to utilise the time they have for developing election strategies than fuelling the factional feud. The focus should be on fighting the war, not sharing its spoils.

We would be more rooted than ever in indigenous culture, but also more adept at the everyday use of tech, perhaps even in the disseminating of our ancient traditional systems

INDIA AT 2030: ROOTED AND CONNECTED

HINDOL SENGUPTA

Vice President & Head of Research at Invest India, GoI's national investment promotion agency

AMIT BANDRE

We probably cannot always see this, but we are living through a moment that is seeding what could well create a radically transformed nation by 2030.

But what are these things?

A reimagination of health is one. There are two things happening in India simultaneously that give its health systems and the industry its disruptive edge. India is rediscovering the importance of its traditional medicinal systems in Ayurveda, yoga and others, and making them relevant (dare one say even fashionable) for use today. In the process, it is even gaining the confidence to project and export them around the world. Between 2019 and 2020, exports of Ayurveda grew by 45%.

But it is not merely traditional medicine where India will be, or rather is, demonstrating leadership. The mass manufacture of the AstraZeneca-Oxford vaccine is an indication of the future of pharmaceutical manufacturing in India and it strengthens the role of the country as a medicine manufacturing hub at scale.

There is another aspect to health where India's importance will grow in the coming decade—the country would have one of the biggest and demographically most diverse health databases in the world. Used innovatively, this resource could help definitively transform global research and show new digital-based health models used at scale. This is going to be even more powerful with ideas like the digital health stack for India and a digital health ID for Indian citizens.

The seeds of reforms and innovation are being planted today in everything, from infrastructure to the promotion of 'one district, one product' (ODOP). If you look carefully, the theme is to change India from the very grassroots.

India seeks to reverse the gaze of globalisation in a sense—not just embracing the world as it has since the opening of the economy in 1991, but also confidently making the argument that it too has many goods and materials that would be valued by the world. The ODOP programme for instance propels the idea, often heard in France, of terroir—things being valuable for they are unique to a location, a geography. The idea is to make every district in the country known for something unique, something that could be presented to the world. In a sense, this is what geographical indication or GI tagging is all about too. Reversing the gaze only begins when a country starts to appreciate and consume the best of its domestic fare even before they are marketed to the world. Vocal for local understands the spirit that consumption, like charity, must begin at home.

India seeks to reverse the gaze of globalisation in a sense—not just embracing the world as it has since the opening of the economy in 1991, but also confidently making the argument that it too has many goods and materials that would be valued by the world

In infrastructure development, covering the length and breadth of India with tapped water for every household is as important as the revitalisation of the Indian railways and laying tens of thousands of kilometres of new highways is as vital as the building of a broadband network touching every hamlet in the country.

Mass supply of clean water would, in the years to come, transform public health in India as it once did in the West. Road (along with rail and air) networks being laid today to connect the remotest corners of the country would lead to social and economic transformation as they almost always do—connectivity, more often than not, is prosperity.

2030 could see an India more connected than ever before. Digital payments would become the norm, replacing every other payment method. The United Payments Interface, already recognised as a pioneer in the world of democratised money transactions, could well become the backbone of many Indian products in financial technology or fintech. As it reforms its agriculture, India may well become one of the most important, if not the most important, food producers in the world, using its bountiful produce both economically and strategically.

The India of 2030 is being seeded today within the citizens using two big ideas—deeper connections to the civilisational roots of the country and integrated to the everyday seamless use of technology. In other words, the Indian of 2030 would be more rooted than ever in indigenous culture, our heritage and the use of traditional systems—but also more adept at the everyday use of technology, perhaps even in the disseminating of some of those ancient systems.

It is customary at the beginning of a decade to gaze ahead to understand where one would be at the start of the next—and today it seems that in 2030, India would be in equal measures rooted and connected to its civilisation and in tune with relentless technological advancement.

A TRIBUTE TO ANCIENT INDIAN SCULPTORS

R H KULKARNI

Professor, Dept of Art History, College of Fine Arts, Karnataka Chitrakala Parishath

Ancient Indian art is highly rich in its traditions. Our myths and lore eulogise the artists. Indian scriptures speak about Vishwakarma and Maya as artist and architect. They are believed to be responsible for building magnificent cities and palaces for divinities in heavens and people on earth as well. The Mahabharata ascribes the creation of the city of Indraprastha to the legendary architect Maya.

The roots of ancient Indian art and culture go back to the Indus Valley civilisation. The artists in those days were very creative with their sculptures and terracotta seals that have beautiful relief figures depicting animals and humans. These served as sources of inspiration to the succeeding generations. But the names of the artists who created these exquisite seals and sculptures are not known to us till date.

The artists' names in ancient periods began to appear from the Mauryan era. The Mauryan engravers left their names as part of inscriptions. They are known as lipikara (engraver of the script). The names of sculptors were found only in subsequent periods. A yaksha sculpture (second century BCE) found in Maharashtra's Pitalkhora and now in the National Museum, Delhi, has the name of a sculptor called Kanhadasa. Incidentally, this yaksha's name is Vishwakarma! There are several such instances in subsequent centuries where the names of artists have been engraved on sculptures.

The early artistic activities were mainly associated with Buddhist sites like Barhut, Sanchi, Amaravati, Sannati, etc. The irony is that there are many sculptures that have no signatures, but their importance can be felt in the style and iconographic embellishment. For example, Mauryan capitals with high-quality images of bulls, lions and elephants mounted as symbolic depictions, the sculptures on the Barhut stupa such as Chulakoka Devata, Mahakoka Devata and many such examples have no signatures of artists. As the eminent art historian and author Professor Deepak H Kannal has opined, "The anonymity of the sculptors is something that is romanticised by historians as the selfless gesture of the Indian master artists. The names of the sculptors mentioned at the sites are not to give them due recognition but was a method to take their attendance and calculate their pay during those days."

A close study of these sculptures clearly indicates the style that is carried on further by the students of the master sculptor. The guru-shishya parampara in the ancient Indian context has left a rich tradition of tutorship and learning. It also establishes the strong pedagogy that is seen in the works of the students or in the school/style. There are several such issues that need to be addressed to understand ancient Indian art in a more subtle way.

A recent book titled Lupadakhe: Unknown master sculptors of ancient India, authored by Professor Kannal and Kanika Gupta, looks into various aspects of the anonymity of the sculptor and style of the sculptures. Focusing upon selected areas of Indian art and starting from the very beginning, an inquiry into styles, schools and patronage has been made and narrated art historically in this work. This study on ancient sculptures and sculpture styles follows the traditional methodological frame of the well-known German art historian Henrich Wolfflin. The formalistic features and their comparisons have enabled us to categorise certain groups of sculptures. Their identity and stylistic affiliation is also established in the context of the sculptural schools.

"India has a great tradition in aesthetic theorisation but surprisingly it has totally ignored the possibilities of critiquing a specific aesthetic manifestation. Indian aesthetic tradition does not reveal a single occurrence of any theoretical or critical analysis of a particular creation: literary, performativity or visual," writes Professor Kannal in his book. The study on the artists and styles gives a brief introduction to the artists' community and art activity in ancient India and the most significant masterpieces of the past. The book focuses on issues such as employing the methods of intrinsic studies, mainly highlighting the stylistic typologies and morphological developments. It is a fact that such an inquiry into Indian art, artists and their styles has not been attempted earlier in our art historical writing barring some of the works of Prof. Ratan Parimoo, former dean at MSU Baroda. Lupadakhe, the title, is a reference to an artist whose love affair is noted at the Jogimara caves in Chhattisgarh, a record dating back to 3rd century BCE.

(L) Yaksha sculpture (2nd century BCE) from Maharashtra's Pitalkhora sculpted by Kanhadasa; Mahakoka Devata sculpture on the Barhut stupa in Madhya Pradesh (2nd century BCE); (R) Sembiyan Mahadevi, a Chola bronze (10th century CE)

Here, the artist expresses his love to the devadasi Sutanukha. The term devadasi may be taken as synonymous with devaganika as seen in the early medieval period. The names do speak about the socio-political structure of society.

The book also focuses upon the rich tradition of Chola bronzes, known for their technical and aesthetic values. Technically, artists created the images in beeswax and casted in the metal—the ancient melting casting technology known as madhu chista vidhana (lost wax process). The artists in the Chola region supplied a large number of processional idols to temples built in the Chola period and even earlier. The artists created these beautiful processional idols comparable to their stone counterparts in the temples. Thanjavur, Madurai, Kumbakonam, Swamimalai and Cuddalore were known for their ancient metal sculpture-making places. Some of the sculptures are stylistically and iconographically unique in their representation. Hundreds of sculptures of Gangadhara Shiva, Somaskandamurthy, Shiva Nataraja, Lakshmi, Trivikrama and Tripurari were casted; they measured from one feet to six feet and weighed a few grams to a few hundred kilograms.

The Chola artists had the expertise to create beautiful images like the 10th century Sembiyan Mahadevi bronze and have left a strong legacy of bronze-making in that period. But surprisingly, the names of the artists are once again not known to us. The study of such examples tells us more about the tradition of artistic developments in India. Lupadakhe in its entirety enlightens us on many unanswered questions about Indian art and artists.

Biden begins with a bang

US President Joe Biden has lost no time in working towards reversing the controversial decisions of his predecessor. It may well be a record for any head of state to issue 15 executive orders on his inauguration day in office.

DV G Sankararao, Vizianagaram

Immigration & Indians

The new US dispensation appears to have got right down to work. It is good that Biden's immigration bill will help Indians waiting for their green cards. But with regard to refugees seeking asylum, America should be a little more cautious.

Govardhana Myneedu, Vijayawada

An obstacle to overcome

The fire at the under-construction Serum Institute building in Pune is quite unfortunate, considering the already existing skeptical air surrounding the vaccines. It should be seen as a mere obstacle that we can overcome.

Malavika Rajesh, Bengaluru

Low vaccination turnout

The report that the turnout for vaccination is quite low is a serious concern. There doesn't seem to be a valid reason to boycott the vaccines. The Centre and state governments are responsible for the lapses.

Bijumon P N, Idukki

Gupkar spirits dampened

As the People's Alliance for Gupkar Declaration aims to reinstate Article 370 in J&K, the exit of the People's Conference from the group brought down the spirits of supporters. The nullification of the Article allowed J&K to fully blend in with India.

Cicily Thomas, Muvattupuzha

Religious yet secular

This is with reference to The Ramayana tradition and Indian secularism (Jan 21). The author has rightly pointed out that the Indian community has long been immersed in religious culture. But this does not imply that they are not secular.

A M Chakravarty, Hyderabad

Dedicated life to patients

This is with reference to The cancer doctor with a heart of gold (Jan 21). The editorial is a fitting tribute to Dr V Shanta. From her late 20s till she breathed her last, she dedicated her life to helping cancer patients. Her healing touch cannot be replaced.

K Jayanthi, Chennai

Selfless service

The editorial highlighted Dr Shanta's immense contribution to cancer cure and shows how her name has become synonymous with ethics and selfless service. Her stature is incomparable.

M V Narasimha Rao, Visakhapatnam

Tackle other serious issues

This is with reference to Good riddance to Parliament canteen subsidy (Jan 21). It is a wise move on the part of MPs to do away with the food subsidies. However, this is a cosmetic move as there are other serious issues like absenteeism and even sleeping during a session that must be tackled.

Rahane as Test captain?

It is high time the BCCI appoints separate captains for Tests and shorter formats. For Tests, Ajinkya Rahane seems the best choice at present. His calm manner and clever tactics created history recently.

Centre modifies app to address lower vaccination

CoWIN now has provision for walk-in beneficiaries on any date

> The paradox is that countries across globe are asking us for access to the vaccines while a section of our own is fomenting misinformation and doubt for narrow political ends
>
> Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan

PLAN TO INOCULATE 30 CRORE PEOPLE IN 6-8 MONTHS

The country plans to vaccinate around 30 crore people with two doses each in the first six to eight months of the year. The recipients include 3 crore doctors, nurses and other frontline workers, to be followed by people who are either over 50 years of age or have illnesses that make them vulnerable to Covid-19. The pace of the vaccination, since the launch on January 16, however, has been slower than expected and till Thursday 10,40,014 beneficiaries had taken either Covishield or Covaxin across India

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

AMID reports of low turnout of beneficiaries for Covid-19 vaccinations and wastage of vaccines, the Centre has modified the CoWIN app, the platform driving the immunisation drive, to allow registered but non-allocated individuals to take the shots.

This new feature will permit states to accommodate walk-ins, especially at centres where less than 100 people per day, as planned, are taking the jabs.

"While the average vaccination sessions allowed per site are 100, in a majority of the states, fewer people were turning up as a result of which a large number of vaccines were getting wasted," said an official in the Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare. "Therefore, following requests by the states, we have created a provision in the app to also accommodate registered beneficiaries scheduled to take the jab on other dates."

The pace of the vaccination, since the launch on January 16, however, has been slower than expected and till Thursday 10,40,014 beneficiaries had taken either Covishield or Covaxin across India.

The sources in the government also said that the Centre may allow self-registration by the elderly and those with comorbidities on the CoWIN-platform for faster and easier enrolment to receive a shot of the vaccine.

"An Aadhaar-based enrolment process could also be rolled out for the elderly and those with comorbidities on the CoWIN platform, which may be integrated with the widely used Aarogya Setu app," said an official.

As per the plan, the CoWIN platform will allow the public to access certain features — only those required for enrolment and vaccination and not the complex back-end operations — on the Aarogya Setu app.

Aarogya Setu app, the single-window interface for health-related updates related to Covid-19 launched by the Centre in April last year, has been downloaded by over 17 million users.

Meanwhile, Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan, while launching a major communication campaign to address hesitance shown by people towards the vaccines and misinformation, said all eminent doctors of well-known hospitals have taken the vaccine and praised the exercise for its desired end.

"It is only a handful of vested political interests who are spreading rumours," he said.

Vardhan added that "the paradox is that countries across globe are asking us for access to the vaccines while a section of our own is fomenting misinformation and doubt for narrow political ends."

The PM had earlier said that 30 crore people will be vaccinated in the next few months.

PM-Kisan: 11.3 lakh fund transfers failed in 4 months during lockdown

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Centre's much-touted PM-Kisan fund saw 11.29 lakh cases of failure of fund transfer to farmers between March 23 and July 31 last year, reply to a query filed under Right to Information (RTI) Act has revealed.

The RTI reply to transparency activist Venkatesh Nayak shows the highest cases of failure of fund transfer were reported from Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra and Karnataka. Responding to the RTI plea, Union Ministry of Agriculture also informed that nearly half (6.33 lakh) instances of failed transactions were successfully re-processed, as of July 31.

Madhya Pradesh accounted for 7.29 lakh failed transactions, followed by Maharashtra with more than 85,210 transfer failures and Karnataka, which recorded over 55,791 instances of failure of transfer of PM-Kisan funds to bank accounts during the lockdown period last year.

Bihar, with 51,004 cases of transfer failures and Uttar Pradesh with 47,918 instances were among the other states that saw very high number of failures.

These five states together accounted for almost nearly 90 per cent of the total transfer failures between March and July 31, 2020. The ministry it its reply did not divulge the reasons why the fund transfers failed. It also did not indicate the amount of funds that could not be transferred. It's also not known how many beneficiaries were affected.

The PM-Kisan scheme provides income support of ₹6,000 per annum to all eligible farmer families across the country. The information further shows that Sikkim accounted for the lowest number of transfer failures. Other Northeastern states — Arunachal Pradesh with 141, Mizoram with 218 and Meghalaya with 233 — also reported less cases.

On successful re-processing, Madhya Pradesh had the highest with 6.12 lakh cases followed by Maharashtra reporting 12,810 cases and UP reporting 1,986 cases.

Tactical retreat for fear of losing ground, with eye on future gains

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

DESPITE Prime Minister Narendra Modi hard-selling the contentious farm laws for months, its potential political cost appears to have weighed high in the government's considerations to resort to a tactical retreat.

Pressure from Rashtriya Swayamsewak Sangh (RSS), apprehension of ceding space to Congress in Haryana, and risk assessments in the poll-bound states appear to have prevailed over the BJP to buy peace with agitating farmers, with an offer to keep the laws in abeyance for a year and a half.

While the offer to keep the farm laws in suspended animation for a while may not be called a complete surrender by the government, the NDA at the Centre in the past had given up after pushing hard for amendments to the land acquisition law. After three ordinances, PM Modi had announced the intent of the government to allow the legislative intervention to lapse in the face of widespread protests by farmers.

The prolonged farm agitation had put the BJP-JJP (Janata Jannayak Party) alliance government in Haryana staring at the prospects of Congress plucking off vulnerable MLAs from the ranks of the deputy chief minister Dushyant Chautala-led outfit.

Twice Chautala met the Union Home Minister Amit Shah to raise concerns about the farm laws. In the last meeting, he was accompanied by chief minister Manohar Lal Khattar.

Within the BJP, it is being observed that Congress is gaining back the support base of the Jats (agrarian caste) in Rohtak-Sonipat regions.

In the past few weeks, the government and the BJP sought to build a case that farmers in other states were in support of the farm laws. However, party leaders admitted that the response had largely been lukewarm.

Even if farmers weren't up in arms in the poll-bound states of West Bengal, Assam, Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Puducherry, BJP was wary of a possible dent in support, with political rivals drumming up an anti-farmer narrative against the saffron outfit.

Importantly, RSS wasn't seen as overzealous about the farm laws, with its affiliates, particularly the Swadeshi Jagran Manch (SJM) being vocal about the assurance on MSP (Minimum Support Price) made mandatory for private procurement of grains.

The RSS is learnt to have also been cautious of reports about growing anger against BJP in Punjab. For RSS, insiders believe, the farm laws weren't worth frittering away the organizational gains in all parts of Punjab, and a special bond with the Sikh community.

PROCEDURAL ISSUES

Army chief regrets slow pace of modernisation

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

RUING the protracted process of modernisation of the Indian Army, Chief of the Army Staff General MM Naravane said on Thursday this is held hostage to focus on procedures instead of procuring relevant products.

Speaking at a webinar on 25 years of army-industry partnership, Gen Naravane said: "We are not able to fast-track the process of acquisition. It is because we have tried to cater for every contingency and every loophole. This results in the acquisition process getting tied up in knots."

The army chief spoke candidly on the problems plaguing acquisition. "There are certain inherent procedural lacuna that have crept into the acquisition process which inherently arise due to the overbearing nature of our rules, regulations and guidelines in trying to ensure zero error."

Referring to the ongoing border standoff with China, Gen Naravane said continuous capability building of the army through modernisation is a national imperative. "Considering the quick pace of defence modernisation undertaken by our adversaries, we are lagging behind slightly. Continuous dependence of Indian armed forces on equipment of foreign origin needs to be addressed through indigenous development," he said.

He also spoke about the twin challenges of Covid-19 and the "belligerence" on the northern borders. "India is now a rising regional global power in Asia, more particularly in South Asia. As we rise in stature and influence, we will face increasingly higher security challenges,"

Parl panel flags Twitter blocking Shah's account

NEW DELHI: During an interaction with Twitter representatives, BJP members of the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Information Technology raised the issue of the platform locking the account of Union Home Minister Amit Shah for a short period late last year, sources said after the meeting on Thursday. Some BJP members questioned the fact-checking mechanism at Twitter and wondered how the account of country's home minister was locked.

Twitter had then said that Shah's account was temporarily locked due to an "inadvertent error" and the decision was reversed immediately. Committee members also flagged the issue of Twitter misrepresenting the Indian map, a member said. When some members asked the basis on which Twitter was removing contents and blocking accounts, the company representatives said they want to create a "healthy platform". But some members were not satisfied and sought details on how decisions were made to block some accounts and leave others, a member said.

In another interaction, the panel flagged the concerns over the proposed changes in the privacy policy when WhatsApp representatives appeared before it. The WhatsApp representatives claimed the changes are aimed at bringing in more transparency and that the chats and calls on the platform still remain end-to-end encrypted.

Guild condemns warrant against Thakurta over 2017 article against corporate firm

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Editors Guild of India has condemned the non-bailable arrest warrant issued against senior journalist Paranjoy Guha Thakurta on Thursday. The Guild also urged the Adani group to withdraw the criminal case against Thakurta.

"The Editors Guild of India strongly condemns the use of intimidatory tactics by powerful corporate houses against journalists. The case in point is the non-bailable arrest warrant that has been issued against senior journalist Paranjoy Guha Thakurta, by a court in Gujarat's Kutch district, for an article he had co-authored against the Adani group in 2017," said a statement from the Guild.

The Guild said the warrant issued by a lower court was an example of ploys used by business houses to silence voices in media. "Routinely they have targeted independent journalists," it said. "Criminal defamation laws are often used by those in power to suppress scrutiny by the media... This case is a prime example of how such laws can be misused."

"The guild strongly urges the Adani group to withdraw the criminal case against Thakurta. We further urge the higher judiciary to take cognisance that laws such as criminal defamation are often used to impede freedom of speech, and issue guidelines to ensure that wanton use of such laws does not serve as a deterrent to free press."

Smoke billowing out of the Serum Institute of India building after a fire broke out on Thursday | PTI

Groped their way through blanket of smoke to safety

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

THE toll in the fire accident at the Serum Institute of India could have touched higher had not the 200-odd labourers groped their way out through a dense blanket of billowing smoke. The fire at the facility has claimed the lives of five workers.

Eyewitnesses said that the fire broke out during welding work and soon engulfed the entire third floor of the facility, where the institute was planning to research on Rota virus. "Our path was blocked by intense heat and smoke. We could not ahead and started jumping out of the windows. Quick response to the accident helped save many lives," said an eyewitness.

Meanwhile, Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar announced an expert panel probe into the mishap. "The expert team will visit the spot on Friday. We will be able to ascertain the cause only after the panel submits the report," Pawar said.

While adequate mitigation apparatuses were at the facility, the intensity of the blaze rendered them useless, Pawar said. "We will try to find out whether the institute was following safety norms," Pawar said. The institute's chief Adar Poonawala is presently abroad.

Serum Institute of India has declared ₹25 lakh as financial aid to the kin of the deceased. The state government is also likely to announce an exgratia.

TMC CRIES FOUL AFTER CLERIC FLOATS PARTY

Abbas Siddiqui of Furfura Sharif may divide anti-BJP votes, denting prospects of TMC, which sees BJP hand in Indian Secular Front birth

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

PROMINENT Islamic cleric Abbas Siddiqui of Furfura Sharif in Hooghly district on Thursday launched a political party named Indian Secular Front (ISF), announcing his intent to enter the fray for the upcoming assembly elections in the state. This is seen in certain quarters as a threat to chip away at the ruling Trinamool Congress's minority vote base.

Unveiling the new entity's green and navy blue flag, Siddiqui said the party will announce later how many seats it will contest in. He did not rule out an alliance with the CPI(M) and Congress. "Our party's prime agenda will be betterment of Muslims and those who belong to other backward classes. The CPI(M) and Congress have sent fillers. Both asked me to float the party first," said Siddiqui.

Political observers likened ISF to the AIMIM, which won five seats in the Bihar assembly elections, along the Bengal border region. AIMIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi had met Siddiqui at Furfura Sharif earlier this month and said his party would contest elections in Bengal under the leadership of the cleric.

Islamic cleric Abbas Siddiqui of Furfura Sharif waving the flag of the newly-floated Indian Secular Front at Hooghly on Thursday | PTI

Asked about TMC's allegation that ISF's participation would benefit BJP, Siddiqui said: "I would like to ask the ruling party to answer my question who has brought the BJP in Bengal. The TMC did not keep promises made in 2011. Instead, they triggered communal discord in the state."

He also said the door of his party would remain open for all organisations to form a grand alliance and the TMC needed rectification before approaching alliance with the ISF.

Muslims constitute about 31 per cent of voters in West Bengal and are seen as a vote bank of Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee. There are around 125 minority-dominated constituencies and 85 where Muslims voters are above 35 per cent.

On his uncle Twaha Siddiqui's stance against the decision of contesting in elections, Siddiqui said, "Most of the clerics in Bengal are with me. If one or two are not, how does it matter?" Twaha is also a cleric in Furfura Sharif. TMC MP Saugata Roy described the development as a strategy of BJP. "It is known that AIMIM is working for BJP and the ISF will play the same role in Bengal. But it will not cause any dent on our electoral strength," he said.

BJP spokesperson Shamik Bhattacharya said ISF's appearance would increase the pulse rate of chief minister Banerjee.

Poll panel tells Bengal cops to shore up law & order

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

A full team of the Election Commission of India (ECI) on Thursday instructed West Bengal's Additional Director General of Police (law and order) Gyanwant Singh to execute all pending non-bailable arrest warrants by the end of this month. Assembly elections in the state are expected to take place in April.

It is learnt that of the 50,000 pending arrests, nearly 12,000 were made in the last four days. "Singh reasoned that because of Covid-19 and cyclone Amphan, there were problems in executing warrants. He submitted a list of persons with criminal records, who operate from jails," said a source.

The commission also asked Singh to contain violence before the announcement of election dates. The agenda of the meeting convened by the ECI focused on Bengal's law and order issues. Opposition parties often complain of bloodshed during polls in the state. The ECI met other agencies including BSF and CRPF to discuss deployment of forces. Sources in the commission said officials are particularly keen to find out security requirements in Junglemahal and border areas.

"This time, the commission might ask for additional forces. As the number of booths has risen to 1,01,733 from 77,247, there are chances that the number of security personnel will see an increase of 25 per cent, compared to what was used for Lok Sabha polls," said a commission official.

The polls are likely to witness a tussle between TMC and BJP. Leaders of both sides have levelled charges against forces. TMC's secretary-general Partha Chatterjee alleged BSF was threatening villagers to vote for a particular party, which the paramilitary dismissed. BJP leaders have accused the state police of being partial while imposing rules.

Regional outfits mull tie-up in Assam

AFTER six opposition parties, led by the Congress, came forward to jointly fight the upcoming Assam polls, the state could now see the formation of a grand alliance of some regional and ethnic communities-based parties. Former leader of the All Assam Students' Union Lurinjyoti Gogoi, who now heads the Asom Jatiya Parishad (AJP), said they were working to form a grand alliance with AJP, Raijor Dal, Autonomous State Demand Committee (ASDC), Gana Shakti, tribal councils etc.

"Our thrust is on a regional equation. This front is going to happen," Gogoi told this newspaper on Thursday. He said the AJP's alliance with Raijor Dal and ASDC, which is based in Karbi Anglong, had been finalised. The indigenous communities of Rabhas, Tiwas, Bodos and Mishings are left. We feel two of them will come aboard. The tribals are Assam's sons of the soil. They have to be given a political space," Gogoi said.

Stating that they stand for inclusive politics, he said the alliance had plans to field candidates in all 126 seats.

Bombay High Court rejects Sonu Sood's plea on illegal construction notice

Mumbai: The Bombay High Court on Thursday dismissed an appeal and an interim application filed by Bollywood actor Sonu Sood against a BMC notice over alleged illegal construction carried out by him at his residential building in Juhu area of Mumbai. Justice Prithviraj Chavan, while dismissing the actor's appeal and application, said, "Law helps only those who are diligent." Sood's lawyer Amogh Singh sought a time of 10 weeks to comply with the notice issued by the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) in October last year, and requested the HC to direct the civic body to not initiate demolition action. The court, however, refused and said the actor had ample opportunity in the past and if required, he could approach the civic body. "The ball is now in the office of the BMC...you (Sood) may approach them," Justice Chavan said. "You (Sood) are too late. You had ample opportunity," the judge added. Sood approached the high court earlier this month challenging an order of a city civil court at Dindoshi that had dismissed his suit against the BMC's notice issued over the alleged illegal construction carried out by him.

■ US finally joins WHO's Covax facility for vaccines | ■ Experts relieved as Biden restores WHO funding | ■ US set to rejoin Paris accord on climate change

JOE GOES GLOBAL IN ANTI-COVID FIGHT

WASHINGTON

The United States said on Thursday it would resume its funding for the UN's health agency, WHO, as President Joe Biden shifts towards greater international cooperation in the fight against Covid-19.

On his first day in the job, Biden confirmed he had reversed the decision of former president Donald Trump to quit the World Health Organization (WHO).

"Under trying circumstances, this organisation has rallied the scientific and research and development community to accelerate vaccines, therapies and diagnostics," top US scientist Anthony Fauci told a WHO meeting via video-link, confirming that the US would continue to pay its dues to the organisation.

Fauci also said Biden will issue a directive Thursday that shows the United States' intent to join the Covax Facility, a project to deploy Covid-19 vaccines to people in need around the world — whether in rich or poor countries. Under Trump, the US had been the highest-profile — and most deep-pocketed — holdout from the COVAX Facility, which has struggled to meet its goals of distributing millions of vaccines both because of financial and logistic difficulties.

Good news for India?

WHO and leaders in many developing countries have repeatedly expressed concerns that poorer places could be the last to get Covid-19 vaccines, while noting that leaving vast swaths of the global population unvaccinated puts everyone at risk. The Covax programme aims to secure enough Covid-19 vaccines this year for the most vulnerable 20% in every country, rich or poor.

Currently, around 190 countries are participating, including the 92 low-income and lower-middle income nations such as India, Nigeria, Pakistan and Vietnam.

Aimed at pooling the risk and rewards, Covax has struck agreements with manufacturers for two billion vaccine doses, and has secured options on a further billion.

It is co-led by the WHO as well as Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance, and CEPI, the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations.

Nearly $7 bn funding needed

The project's success also rests on whether it can raise the required funding. Covax raised the initial $2 billion last year.

But at least $4.6 billion more will be needed this year for procurement, with a further $800 million needed for research and development and $1.4 billion for vaccine delivery support.

The WHO hopes to distribute 145 million doses worldwide in the first three months of this year. However, the WHO has repeatedly hit out at "vaccine nationalism" – particularly rich countries hogging the first doses off the production line in their own direct deals with manufacturers, bypassing Covax.

4,05,400

people in the US have died after testing positive for Covid-19, a toll that surpasses the 4,05,399 military fatalities of the US in World War II. The number includes both combat and non-combat deaths.

Quarantine for US arrivals

Biden will kick off his national Covid-19 strategy to ramp up vaccinations and testing, reopen schools and businesses and increase the use of masks — including a requirement that Americans mask up for travel.

The US mask order for travel being implemented by Biden will apply to airports and planes, ships, intercity buses, trains and public transport. Travelers from abroad must furnish a negative test before departing for the US and quarantine upon arrival. Agencies

Leaders laud US return to Paris pact

LONDON

World leaders breathed an audible sigh of relief that the United States under President Joe Biden is rejoining the global effort to curb climate change, a cause that his predecessor had shunned.

British Prime Minister Boris Johnson and French President Emmanuel Macron were among those welcoming Biden's decision to rejoin the the Paris climate accord, reversing a key Trump policy in the first hours of his presidency Wednesday.

"Rejoining the Paris Agreement is hugely positive news," Johnson wrote on Twitter. Britain, which is hosting this year's UN climate summit, looked forward to working with the Biden administration on the issue, he said.

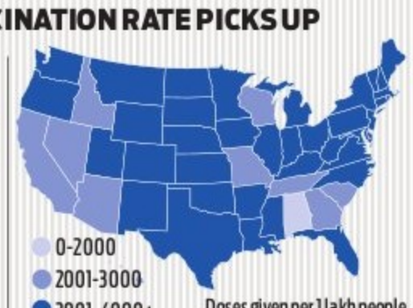
Macron likewise tweeted his joy at the US rejoining the Paris pact, saying that with Biden, "we will be stronger to face the challenges of our time. Stronger to build our future. Stronger to protect our planet."

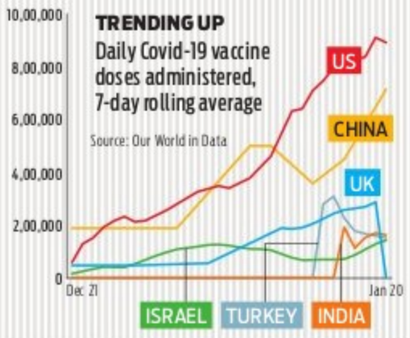
The accord, forged in the French capital in 2015, commits countries to put forward plans for reducing their emissions of greenhouse gases such as carbon dioxide, which is released from burning fossil fuels. Former President Donald Trump had questioned the scientific warnings about man-made global warming, at times accusing other countries of using the Paris accord as a club to hurt Washington. The U.S. formally left the pact in November.

By contrast, Biden put the fight against climate change at the center of his presidential campaign and on Wednesday immediately launched a series of climate-friendly efforts to bring Washington back in step with the rest of the world on the crucial issue. "A cry for survival comes from the planet itself," Biden said in his inaugural address. AP

U.S. VACCINATION RATE PICKS UP

The rollout of Covid-19 vaccines in the US is picking up pace after delays initially. Biden has set a goal of 100 million shots in his first 100 days in office.





3 mn/day

During flu season, the U.S. is able to vaccinate about 3 million people a day, said Dr. Christopher Murray of the Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation in Seattle

Twitter locks Chinese embassy account

Twitter has locked the account of the Chinese embassy in the US, over a tweet claiming Uighur women were no longer "baby-making machines" after their minds had been "emancipated".

1st woman national intel chief confirmed

The Senate confirmed former CIA official Avril Haines as director of national intelligence, making her the first member of Biden's cabinet to gain approval. Democrats and Republicans gave support to Haines, voting 84-10.

Sensex hits new high, ends in red on profit-taking

Analysts say the next direction for equity markets will be directed by the Budget 2021

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

BUOYED by global sentiments, the sensex on Thursday crossed the 50,000-mark for the first time. However, the fear of correction and profit booking by investors erased all the intraday gains to end 167 points lower. The anticipation of economic recovery, promise of a "never-like-before budget" and with global investors betting on major stimulus from the newly-appointed US President Joe Biden, helped Sensex to hit an all-time high of 50,184.01, while Nifty scaled the fresh peak of 14,753.55 in afternoon trade.

The surge was led by Reliance Industries, as its shares rose 2.5 per cent after market regulator Sebi gave a thumbs up to its ₹24,713 crore deal with Future Group. Shares of Future Group also jumped five per cent, followed by Tata Motors (5.7 per cent) which gained for a third straight day.

Oil marketing major ONGC, on the other hand, was the top loser in the Sensex pack, shedding 4 per cent, followed by Bharti Airtel, SBI, IndusInd Bank, NTPC, Sun Pharma and ITC. Among the sectoral indices, BSE Telecom, Utilities, Metal and Realty indices fell over two per cent each dragging the Sensex 0.34 per cent lower at 49,624.76 and Nifty at 14,590.35, down 54 points.

According to VK Vijayakumar, Chief Investment Strategist at Geojit Financial Services, if the recovery in growth and corporate earnings gather momentum, the markets may further surprise on the upside. However, there is a word of caution as well for the investors. "It is important to appreciate that the market is overvalued from the short-term perspective. At high levels, the market is vulnerable to a correction. Investors can utilise the current euphoria to get rid of low-grade stocks from the portfolio," he added. The Sensex took a little over three months to peak from 40,000 to 50,000 points and nine sessions to gain 1,000 points from 49,000 points.

Analysts warn that even as Sensex hits 50,000, there are barriers ahead and the next direction of the market will be directed by the Union Budget 2021. According to Gaurav Awasthi, Senior Partner - IIFL Wealth Management, Sensex at 50K-mark, however, has no significance on the decision to invest or exit from markets.

India must find ways to kickstart investment: RBI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AHEAD of the Union Budget 2021, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) in its monthly bulletin on Thursday said that capital infusion and "innovative" ways of dealing with loan delinquencies will occupy policy attention in order to ensure that finance greases the wheels of growth on a durable basis. It further highlighted that there is an urgent need to kickstart investments to make sure the economic recovery, which is getting stronger with every passing month, is sustainable.

"India must look for ways in which cash sitting idly in balance sheets of corporations and banks and reverse repo balances with the Reserve Bank finds their way into credit to productive sectors and into real spending on investment activity before it imposes a persistent deflationary weight on real activity," RBI said. Notwithstanding the increased demand and relatively higher manufacturing activity in the December quarter, private investments have not picked up in a big way with banks shying away from lending and companies continuing to remain risk-averse. In fact, cash-strapped governments have squeezed capex more than the private sector. Compared to the last quarter, private sector new projects have risen by 8 per cent in Q3, while the same fell by 71 per cent in the government sector.

On its outlook for 2021, the central bank said that India's GDP is within the striking distance of attaining positive growth and that the shape of the recovery will be V-shape (where 'V' stands for vaccine). Indian economy is projected to contract by 7.7 percent in FY21, the first advance estimates of GDP showed. RBI, in December, had said the growth could turn positive in the third quarter in FY21.

In a separate study on small finance banks (SFBs), the RBI paper said these banks — among the latest entrants in India's financial system — have witnessed a rapid growth in their branch network and asset base while maintaining a healthy asset quality and generating high return on assets. "SFBs have been reasonably successful in reaching out to under-served sectors, such as the micro, small and medium enterprises, and have an impressive coverage of borrowers with small credit needs," noted Richa Saraf and Pallavi Chavan from the RBI's Department of Supervision.

Small Fiance Banks have shown high asset growth since their inception. Between 2017 and 2020, the average growth of assets of these banks was about 150 per cent per annum —RBI paper

TELCOS TO SHOW STEADY ARPU IMPROVEMENT IN Q3

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RELIANCE JIO is set to kick off the third quarter earnings season for India's telecom sector on Friday and analysts expect that all three telcos private sector telcos—the other two being Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Idea—will disclose improvements in key metrics for the period. All three are expected to record increases in their average revenue per user (ARPU). But TRAI's subscriber data indicates that stressed Vodafone Idea's subscriber base has continued eroding during the period even as rivals Bharti Airtel and Reliance Jio expanded their subscriber network.

According to analysts at Motilal Oswal Financial Services, ARPU improvement in Q3 compared to the previous quarter is estimated at 3 per cent for Jio and 1.5 per cent for Airtel. "We expect VIL's ARPU to improve 2.5 per cent (during the period) led by the churn of low-ARPU feature phone customers during the lockdown and the benefit of an increase in customer traction and select postpaid price plans," said a research report from the brokerage firm.

Bank of America Securities (BofA Securities) noted that in terms of revenue, all telcos are likely to show stable revenue and improvement in ARPU. Motilal Oswal also noted that apart from the benefits derived from the improving subscriber mix, shifting toward 4G, ARPU improvements are also likely to be driven by the return of feature phone recharges that had been earlier impacted by stricter lockdowns. As for revenues, BofA Securities estimates "Bharti to show 4.8 per cent q-o-q (quarter on quarter) growth in India cellular revenues versus 3.6 per cent/2 per cent for Jio/VIL". Bharti Airtel, which has begun beating Jio in terms of subscriber additions over the past few months, is likely to have emerged the beneficiary of SIM consolidation at the lower end of the market.

According to Axis Capital, Jio's net subscriber additions "will be muted" and the churn rate would remain elevated. "We expect net additions for Jio to remain relatively modest at 7 million (versus 7.3 million in Q2). Farmers' protests in states like Punjab and Haryana had an impact, in our view," BofA Securities said.

ANALYSTS' TAKE: WHAT TO EXPECT

Average revenue per user (ARPU) improvement in Q3 compared to the previous quarter is estimated at 3 per cent for Reliance Jio

VIL's ARPU to improve 2.5 per cent and 1.5 per cent for Airtel

All three telcos are likely to show stable revenue growth

Textile industry pins high hopes on Union budget

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

THE textile industry, which has been crippled by the Covid-19 pandemic, has shown good signs of recovery in the last few months and now has a lot of expectations from the upcoming budget . The anti-China sentiment, quality goods and timely production has helped the manufacturers and exporters attract good global business and the textile industry feels that it is the opportune time for the Centre to provide appropriate support to the industry to fuel its next phase of growth.

In its pre-budget recommendations, the Apparel Export Promotion Council (AEPC) has proposed enhancing the interest equalization scheme to all apparel exporters and not just the micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs). The council has also sought procedural simplification by Tax Collected at Source (TCS) and concessional tax regime (CTR) for expansion to boost investment in the sector. AEPC believes the Centre should also take measures to encourage investment in green energy and eco-friendly technologies by offering tax benefits to the players and at the same time it should also look at simplifying the clearance of import goods from FTA Countries.

"Exporters are facing difficulty in clearance of import goods from FTA Countries in the wake of implementation of Customs Administration of Rules of Origin under Trade Agreements (CAROTAR), 2020 in respect of Rules of Origin under Trade Agreements," said AEPC chairman, A Sakthivel.

Raja M Shanmugam, president of Tirupur exporters' association has also proposed to set up a research and development (R&D) centre for the design driven industry, which has been attracting many global fashion brands of late.

Sindhu, Sameer in quarters of Thailand Open

Indian shuttlers PV Sindhu and Sameer Verma stormed into the quarterfinals of the Thailand Open but HS Prannoy bowed out of Super 1000 tournament in Bangkok on Tuesday. Sindhu outclassed Malaysia's World No 92 Kisona Selvaduray 21-10, 21-12.

AFTER TOUCHDOWN

Red carpet for Rahane in Mumbai

The celebrations were comparatively low-key. At Ajinkya Rahane's residence, it looked like he was showered with flowers (the community did seem to adhere to social distancing protocols) as he was given a red-carpet welcome. Elsewhere Shardul Thakur was fed sweets by his parents. The players who landed here were felicitated by the Mumbai Cricket Association. All the players and support staff who landed in the city have been advised home quarantine for seven days. This means the next time they get out could be to board the flight to Chennai ahead of the India - England series.

'Need to see Pant as a package'

Fielding coach Sridhar says the maverick is now focussing more on wicketkeeping, fitness

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

ONE of the biggest reasons behind India's win was their decision to play Rishabh Pant after the defeat in Adelaide. It changed the complexion of the Border-Gavaskar Trophy. India's fielding coach R Sridhar, who hails from Hyderabad, speaks about why they went back to Pant and the work the wicketkeeper is putting behind the scenes in an exclusive interview with this daily. Excerpts:

First Test you went with Wriddhiman Saha. Was he considered a safer option with the pink ball?

Woof... We had multiple reasons. We thought Rishabh was still not ready yet and he needed to do some work with regards to his keeping and fitness. That is why we wanted to go with an experienced man in Saha. It was a tough Test and we wanted a reliable wicketkeeper. Saha had played well in the red-ball practice game. So that was a decision taken by the think-tank and soon we realised that we needed a left-hander.

Pant's fitness was an issue before the tour began. Did it concern the team management as well?

Definitely. But during the 14-day quarantine in Sydney, he really worked hard and lost around 6-7 kgs. Since he was not part of the white-ball squad, he got the time to work on his fitness and wicketkeeping as well. But one thing we must all understand with Pant is whether you want the package or not. He is a package, who will come and smash the bowling, he will sledge from behind, enjoy his game and he may drop the odd catch. But if you look at his keeping against fast bowlers, you can't find fault. Even in Brisbane he took some lovely catches — one down the leg-side off (Matthew) Wade and a jumping one against (Tim) Paine. Yes, against spinners he is a work in progress. That is the package. You can take it or leave it.

And he is still young...

He is 23 and keepers tend to get mature as they grow. Things will improve. As a fielding coach, the biggest positive I'm seeing is he has become more open to learning and improving. He listens a lot these days and wants to improve his keeping skills more than ever. There has been so many days on this tour where he said 'I don't want to bat, I only want to keep' and we have done keeping drills for one-and-a-half hours. It is a good sign and he is willing to take the extra mile. It will take time. Keeping is not an easy skill.

At Sydney, he was promoted to go for the target. Was it instant move?

It was a very well thought out move from Ajinkya (Rahane), Ravi bhai (Shastri) and Vikram (Rathour). They came up with that and we were clear he should get to face as many overs as possible before the second new ball. By the time the second new ball was taken, he was well set like in Brisbane. We have always been flexible with the batting factoring the left-right combination.

You have England coming up. Is Pant ready for home run?

We have to get him ready. After his exploits in Brisbane and Sydney, he is a sure shot.

In terms of keeping at home?

It is no doubt going to be challenging for him. India is one of the most difficult places to keep wickets. In England it is extremely difficult to keep against seamers and that is the same here when spinners are operating. He is going to work hard. But people have to be realistic as well. He is not going to become a marvel overnight. People have to be realistic. One thing for sure is he will give his 100 per cent. The boy has matured a lot in the last 12 months and this series is a big lesson for him.

On dropped catches...

I felt very bad. Going into the second and third Test, we did lot of fielding drills. But if you see whole series, both teams had so many dropped catches.

What was the reason?

There are multiple factors. It could be because of none of the guys had played cricket for a long time. So that ability to raise your concentration for a longer period of time will be tough. And when you start training after such a long break, cricketers tend to focus more on the primary skill which is batting or bowling. Fielding won't be a priority. They will be visualising about batting and bowling and even lot of time on improving their fitness, so fielding takes a back seat and maybe it was not on the priority list until an error was made. There were also good catches and saves.

Emotional Siraj dedicates performance to dad

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

AN emotional Mohammed Siraj dedicated his performance in the Border-Gavaskar Trophy to his dad. "I dedicate my performance to my dad (Ghouse)," he said to assembled media persons at his residence in Hasnath Colony. On being asked to comment on who the people who provided him motivation to perform in Australia, he said: "The role of my fiancée has been instrumental in lifting my spirits. She's always been a great moral and emotional support for me. When I went to the pitch, it was quite an emotional moment for me."

Siraj also revealed that racial abuses he faced Down Under made him stronger mentally. He said that the umpires had given them a choice to leave the game but stand-in captain Ajinkya Rahane insisted on playing. He said it was good to be back home. "It's good to be back home and have the support of friends and family. The year 2018 was a bad season for me. However, I received support from my captain and other teammates."

The pacer was felt some pressure after seniors were left out of the team. But then he said he got support from Jasprit Bumrah in his first two Tests. "I was under more pressure after I had dropped a catch in Brisbane," he said. "That's why even after this performance, I don't want to put my achievement at a pedestal. I don't wish to relax much."

COMPOUND ARCHERY TRIALS SHIFTED TO DELHI

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY @ New Delhi

THE compound archery trials to select teams for the three World Cup stages will now be held at the Yamuna Sports Complex (YSC) in New Delhi instead of SAI Sonepat.

The trial scheduled for January 30-31 was shifted as SAI had wanted a fixed number of participants and all of them had to remain in quarantine for a week before the trials could start. That would also have included support staff, coaches and officials. As that would be time consuming, Delhi was chosen as the venue. SAI had informed Archery Association of India (AAI) 24 men and the same number of women compound archers would be allowed for the trial but the federation wanted more archers to get a chance, hence this decision was taken.

"YSC has infrastructure in place and it will not be a problem hosting it there. Almost 40-50 archers can now take part," a source said. A total of 16 men and as many women archers will be selected from the trials and they will directly join a camp in SAI Sonepat.

More than 12,000 people gave tested positive for coronavirus in Israel after getting the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine. Of those, 69 had taken their second jab. Israel's health ministry tested 189,000 people after they vaccinated by Pfizer's vaccine and 6.6 per cent of people still tested positive for Covid-19.

Mobile labs to target reluctant volunteers

Authorities in US forced to roll out this initiative in order to reach out to minority participants especially in the rural areas for better study

HEALTH

NEW YORK: Lani Muller doesn't have to visit a doctor's office to help test an experimental Covid-19 vaccine ' she just climbs into a bloodmobile-like van that parks on a busy street near her New York City neighbourhood.

The US is rightly fixated on the chaotic rollout of the first two authorized vaccines to fight the pandemic. But with more vaccines in the pipeline 'critical to boosting global supplies' scientists worry whether enough volunteers will join and stick with the testing needed to prove if they, too, really work.

Those studies, like earlier ones, must include communities of colour that have been hard-hit by the pandemic, communities that also voice concern about the vaccination drive in part because of a long history of racial health care disparities and even research abuses. To help, researchers in more than a dozen spots around the country are rolling out mobile health clinics to better reach minority participants and people in rural areas who might not otherwise volunteer.

Muller, who is Black, said her family was worried about the vaccine research so she didn't mention she'd signed up to test AstraZeneca's shot.

"The legacy of African Americans in science in these sort of trials hasn't been great and we haven't forgotten," said Muller, 49, a Columbia University employee whose participation in some prior research projects made her willing to get a test injection earlier this month.

Muller knows more than 20 people who have gotten or died from Covid-19. "I'm much more afraid of the disease than the vaccine trial," she said.

From the beginning, the National Institutes of Health was adamant that Covid-19 vaccines be tested in a population about as diverse as the nation's key to building confidence in whichever shots proved to work. In studies of the Pfizer and Moderna shots so far cleared for widespread US use, 10% of volunteers were Black, and more were Hispanic.

Diversity is an even tougher challenge now. The high-risk volunteers needed for final testing of other vaccine candidates have to decide if they want to stick with an experimental injection ' one that might be a dummy shot ' or try to get in line for a rationed but proven dose.

AstraZeneca, with about 30,000 volunteers so far, didn't release specific numbers but said the last weeks of enrollment are focusing on recruiting more minorities and people over age 65. Another maker, Novavax, just began recruiting for its final testing last month.

Studying the vaccines in diverse populations is only one step in building trust, said Dr. Wayne Frederick, president of Howard University, a historically Black university in the nation's capital.

Howard's hospital shared video of Frederick and other health workers getting vaccinated as a public service announcement encouraging African Americans to get their own shot as soon as it's their turn.

Frederick, a surgeon who's also at high risk because of diabetes and sickle cell disease, said he's dismayed to get emails espousing conspiracy theories such as that vaccination is 'an experiment on African Americans.

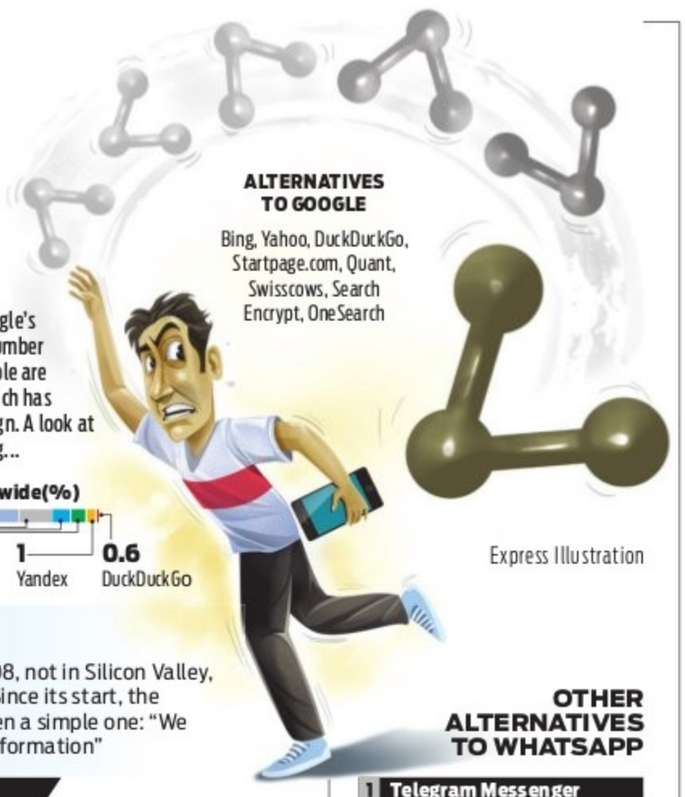
QUACKING ITS WAY UP

DuckDuckGo, privacy-focused Google rival, crossed 100 million daily search queries for the first time this week. Fared against search engine giant Google's daily search of 5 billion queries, the number can seem small, but the fact that people are looking for alternatives to Google, which has monopolised this area, is a positive sign. A look at what it is and why it has been trending...



Express Illustration

Search engine market share worldwide(%)

91.38	2.69	1.46	1.36	1	0.6
Google	Bing	Yahoo!	Baidu	Yandex	DuckDuckGo

What is DuckDuckGo?

DuckDuckGo was founded in 2008, not in Silicon Valley, but Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. Since its start, the company's privacy policy has been a simple one: "We don't collect or share personal information"

Google vs DuckDuckGo

To become one of the largest companies, Google has relied heavily on how it collects user data. In turn, it sells this information for marketing and other purposes. This data collection has annoyed many who have accused it of privacy breach

When it comes to search, there's an alternative. DuckDuckGo promises to protect the privacy of its users. In doing so, it has become a worthy Google competitor

How it works

As DuckDuckGo explains, with only a timestamp and computer information, your searches can often be traced directly to you. DuckDuckGo doesn't store IP information, log user information, and only uses cookies if required. Your search history is safe

Why is it trending now?

The surge in DuckDuckGo's services is part of a wider trend of users shifting to more privacy-oriented services, and is accompanied by a huge shift of users to instant messaging apps. Because of exploitation of their personal data, people have started looking for alternatives

STEADY GROWTH

For the past couple of years, the company has been witnessing a sustained growth, which especially increased after August 2020. That was when it began clocking in over 2 billion search queries in a month regularly.

DuckDuckGo's traffic over the years (queries per day)

Pre-historic: Bronze money used in Europe

ARCHAEOLOGY

WASHINGTON: Central Europeans of the Bronze Age used bronze rings, ribs and axe blades that were roughly standardized in their shape and weight as an early form of "euros," according to a new study.

The paper by researchers at Leiden University in the Netherlands appeared in the journal PLOS ONE on Wednesday.

Money is a defining aspect of modern life, and standardization of currency is one of its key features. But since ancient people lacked precise forms of measurement, archaeologists had disagreed about whether bronze items discovered in "hoards" in modern day Germany, Austria, the Czech Republic and other places were really currency, or just metal blocks for melting into other products.

These objects date back to around 4,000 years ago, when Central Europeans lived in farming societies characterized by the use of bronze tools, weapons, armor, building materials and more.

Lead author Maikel Kuijpers, an assistant professor in European Prehistory, told AFP the research was based on a new methodology he had developed "that is more attuned to how people would weigh items in the Bronze Age."

He and his co-author Catalin Popa studied more than 5,000 objects from over 100 ancient hoards. Rather than measuring the items by weighing scales alone, they statistically compared their weight using a psychology principle known as the "Weber fraction." This quantifies the concept that if objects are similar enough in mass, people weighing them by hand can't tell the difference.

Satellite images to aid elephant conservation

WILDLIFE

LONDON: Conservationists have started using satellite imagery to count elephants from space, a technique that British experts hope will help protect threatened populations in Africa.

Researchers at the University of Oxford and the University of Bath said the use of algorithms, machine learning and satellite technology could replace current techniques used to count elephants — a critical aspect of conservation.

"The population of African elephants has plummeted over the last century due to poaching, retaliatory killing from crop raiding and habitat fragmentation," Oxford said in a statement.

"To conserve them requires knowledge of where they are, and how many there are: accurate monitoring is vital."

Currently, the most common technique for surveying elephant populations in savannah environments is aerial counts from manned aircraft.

The academics said aerial surveyors can get exhausted, and are sometimes hindered by poor visibility.

"Satellite monitoring is an unobtrusive technique requiring no ground presence, thus eliminating the risk of disturbing species, or of concern for human safety during data collection," they added.

"A process that would formerly have taken months can be completed in a matter of hours."

The scientists first developed the techniques at South Africa's Addo Elephant National Park.

MOST ADVANCED DYNAMIC ROBOTS

TECH

The man who designed some of the world's most advanced dynamic robots was on a daunting mission: programming his creations to dance to the beat with a mix of fluid, explosive and expressive motions that are almost human. The results? Almost a year and half of choreography, simulation, programming and upgrades that were capped by two days of filming to produce a video running at less than 3min. The clip, showing robots dancing to the 1962 hit 'Do You Love Me?' by The Contours, was an instant hit on social media, with more than 23 million views in the first week.

SOOTHING MUSIC

Organists offer soundtrack to jabs at cathedral

CHANGEMAKER

SALISBURY: David Halls isn't a doctor, nurse or ambulance driver, but he wanted to contribute in the fight against Covid-19. So he did what he does best: He sat down on the bench beside at Salisbury Cathedral's historic organ and began to play.

Halls is one of the many people who have turned the 800-year-old cathedral in southwestern England into a mass vaccination center as the UK races to inoculate 50 million people. His contribution to the effort is offering a bit of Bach, Handel and even a little Rodgers & Hammerstein to the public as they shuffle through the nave to get their shots.

"At times of crisis, people come together and want to listen to music; at moments of joy, people want to listen to music,'' Halls, the cathedral's music director, told The Associated Press. "And so I don't think it's any surprise the effect of soothing music on people who probably are feeling quite stressed for various reasons."

Salisbury Cathedral, home to one of the best preserved copies of the Magna Carta and England's tallest church spire, has been enlisted as a vaccination center as the government expands its shot program to football stadiums, convention centers and hundreds of local doctors offices to speed delivery. Hundreds of elderly residents have got their shots in the great nave, which is big enough to gather people together while also keeping them safely apart.

It's in stark contract to 1627, when church leaders locked the cathedral gates to keep townspeople out as plague swept through Salisbury. Canon Nicholas Papadopulos, dean of the cathedral, says he reflected on that episode with "visceral discomfort" last year when he celebrated the building's 800th anniversary.

Now, it's time for a new chapter. "If these stones could speak, they would talk about moments of incredible joy and moments of incredible sadness," Halls said. "It feels thoroughly appropriate that the cathedral is playing its part in trying to turn things around and to be part of the vaccinations ... To be part of that is such a privilege, such an honor."

The UK plans to offer a first dose of vaccine to more than 15 million people by mid-February as it targets the country's oldest and most vulnerable residents in the program's first phase. Progressively younger groups of people will follow suit, with the government planning to reach everyone over 18 by September.
